Letter Transmitting Report of The Adjutant General

STATE OF MARYLAND,

Office of the Adjutant General,

ANNAPOLIS, 31st December, 1913.

To His Excellency, The Governor, State of Maryland, Annapolis.

Sir:

In accordance with the Militia Law of Maryland, 1908, as amended, I respectfully submit, herewith, a report upon the operations of the Military Department of the State for the years of 1912-1913.

For convenience and reference purposes, my report is arranged as follows:

1. General review of conditions, field duties, armory instruction, properties, uniform and armament, organization, appropriations and recommendations.

2. Statement showing receipts and disbursements of funds controlled by this Office.

3. Statement of Quartermaster, Ordnance, Signal, Artillery, Medical, Naval and miscellaneous Military property, issued and in store for equipment of the Maryland National Guard.

4. Reports from Organization Commanders and Chiefs of Departments.

The Register of Commissioned Officers and the General Orders issued by this office are published in separate volumes, as they are intended for constant use and reference purposes by persons to whom issued.

GENERAL REVIEW.

The Maryland National Guard during the two years ended 31st December, 1913, underwent considerable change in its commissioned personnel and enlisted strength, which resulted in marked improvement along all lines. The system of instruction, necessary to train our forces for active duty in the field, have been steadily improved and enlarged. The general idea followed in years past was to permit individual and organization instruction to largely rest with the organization command-ders without any direct control or supervisory jurisdiction exercised by any one authority competent to do so. The result of two or more schemes of instruction concurrent within a command composed of several units is at once apparent. This system, wholly at variance with military principle and the results sought, has been changed to one wherein both for the individual and the organizations, as such, a progressive scheme of instruction, suitable to the grade of the individual and size of command, has been established. The drill season of 1912 showed gratifying improvement, and the instruction period of 1913—both armory and field—produced greater improvement, with assurance of continued and steady progress. The attendance at both armory drills and in field instruction has improved, and constant efforts are being made to increase the percentage present for duty at all drills and field instruction. When it is remembered that the officers and men of our organizations cheerfully give gratuitously much of their time, and in many instances at considerable pecuniary loss, it should be a matter of pride and gratification to the people of Maryland that their organized Militia will favorably compare with the Militia of other States as a whole.

CHANGES IN ORGANIZATIONS.

On 8th May, 1912, Company F, First Infantry, was mustered into the service, with station at Hyattsville, Maryland.

On 9th May, 1912, Company L, First Infantry, was mustered into the service, with station at Laurel, Maryland.

Both companies are well located and there is every reason to believe that they will measure up to requirements. Company F, First Infantry, by reason of its proximity to the city of Washington, is particularly advantageously situated to keep up its enlisted personnel to the authorized maximum. It already numbers in its strength men who formerly were members of the National Guard, District of Columbia, but were citizens of this State and preferred service in an organization of the Maryland National Guard. It is gratifying to report that this Company, although only little more than a year old, was a one hundred per cent. company at the State Rifle Range during 1913, and won first honors in the National Defense Trophy Match—the first time awarded since the trophy was presented to the State of Maryland three years ago by the E. I. Du Pont de Nemours Powder Company.

Since the last report submitted by this office, it was necessary to muster out of the service Companies B and K, of the First Infantry, owing to the difficulty in obtaining the proper individuals as commissioned officers, although every means and more than ample time was devoted to rehabilitating both Companies. Both Companies were mustered out this year, and at the present time this office has received inquiries from Silver Springs, Frostburg, Oakland and Hagerstown, regarding organizing companies of Infantry. These are now being looked into with the view of selecting the two best locations.

During the present year, Company A, Hospital Corps, was discontinued, and the officers and men transferred to a new organization designated Field Hospital No. 1. This change was made, conforming with a more appropriate organization of the Land Forces. Sanitary Troops, consisting of a detachment of enlisted men for each regiment, were also provided for in order to conform to the proper organization of a regiment of Infantry.

UNIFORMS, ARMS AND EQUIPMENT.

During the last two years the common tentage, furnished in 1901, for use of the enlisted force, has been properly accounted for to the United States, and has been replaced by 250 pyramidal tents, complete. There have also been procured 52 wall tents, complete, 28 hospital tents, complete, and 300 shelter tents, halves, required to replace unserviceable tentage.

The three (3) Regiments of Infantry have been supplied with complete signal kits.

All revolvers and holsters, cal. 38, have been called in, packed, and are now ready for return to the United States upon receipt of the new cal. 45, automatic pistol, ordered supplied by the Secretary of War.

Field Hospital No. 1 was supplied with an up-to-date Field Hospital Equipment, including escort wagons and necessary harness, etc.

During the last two years the State has procured for use of its organized Militia, field service uniform as follows:

Quartermaster Stores:

- 600 Blankets, Olive Drab,
- 1,125 Service Caps,
- 1,410 Service Hats,
- 1,431 Coats, Olive Drab Wool and Cotton,
- 2,478 pairs Breeches, Olive Drab Wool and Cotton, foot and mounted,
- 1,285 Shirts, Olive Drab,
- 1,100 pairs Leggings,
- 299 Overcoats, Olive Drab,
- 1,794 pairs Shoes,
- 840 Ponchoes and
- 60 Slickers,

Ordnance Stores:

1,000 Canteens, tin,
340,815 Ball Cartridges for target practice and such other articles as may have been required to replace worn out or undesirable articles of a like kind.

The value of a perfectly new and serviceable field service equipment in the Military Storehouse, available for issue approximates nearly.....$130,000.00

The value of the property in possession of the three Infantry Regiments approximates in value....	200,000.00
In possession of the Field Hospital.....	14,000.00
In possession of Troop A.....	10,000.00
In possession of First Company Coast Artillery	8,000.00
In possession of First Separate Company.....	5,000.00
	<hr/>
	$230,000.00
	$367,000.00

The supply of field service uniforms now in store, with the serviceable portions now in possession of the several units of the Maryland National Guard, is amply sufficient to fully equip the minimum strength of the various organizations of the State Militia.

MILITARY STOREHOUSE.

Many changes have been made in the arrangements of the Military Storehouse, noticeably the office and issue room which has been properly celled, floored, wired, painted and lighted. In addition, cupboards for the storage of property required for immediate issue have been completed, putting the issue room in a complete condition inasmuch as it now has sufficient cupboard room to keep each size of the field uniform separate, a very great convenience, when the matter of issue is considered.

The office, made first class in every particular, has been fitted with modern furniture, including filing cabinets for the safe-keeping of the official correspondence necessary for the transaction of business.

The lower part of the storeroom has also been supplied with locker room to accomodate the various articles of field Ordnance equipment continually being required for issue, thus reducing the labor of making issues, one of the greatest difficulties this Department has had to contend with for many years.

All office work pertaining to the several supply departments is now performed in this office and the system, as inaugurated, though in operation only a few months, demonstrated the necessity and value of the change.

MILITARY PROPERTIES.

The property of the State at present devoted to military purposes is as follows:

In Baltimore City...Fifth Regiment Armory;
In Annapolis.....Company M, First Regiment, Armory;
In Frederick.....Company A, First Regiment, Armory;
In Salisbury.....Company I, First Regiment, Armory;
In Pikesville.....Troop A, Armory;
In Anne Arundel Co..Saunders Range.

Property loaned or leased from the city of Baltimore:
Fourth Regiment Armory,
Howard Street Armory.

In the latter Armory quarters are provided for:
Headquarters First Brigade,
Field Hospital, No. 1,
Medical Department,
First Company, Coast Artillery, and Naval Brigade.

All companies in the First Infantry, excepting Companies A, I, and M, are provided with buildings of varying type as armories, wholly inadequate for the needs and purposes of a military organization.

ARMORIES.

The Legislature of Maryland, at its January session of 1912, provided an appropriation for the building of armories for Companies A, I and M, First Infantry. The armory for Company M is now occupied by the Company. It is located in Annapolis and is considered one of the finest for a Company of Infantry. The armory for Company A has been finished sufficiently to allow the Company to occupy it. The same attention and care required for a military company was shown in its construction as in the case of the armory for Company M. The armory for Company I is in course of construction and the plans and specifications insure a building as a model armory. All buildings are to be substantially built, of best material obtainable and will prove a valuable asset to the State.

It is believed that by providing every two years by legislative enactment for the purchase of land required as a site and construction of armory building for at least two of the remaining companies of the First Infantry, will reasonably meet the requirements of this regiment without any large outlay on the part of the State. It is practically impossible to lease in the counties, buildings of adequate size and reasonable security as armories, and it is to the best interests of the State, that each company of the First Infantry be provided with an armory.

The armory of the Fourth Infantry is entirely unsuited for a regiment, the drill floor being only of sufficient size for a Company. I unhesitatingly commend to the Legislature favorable consideration for a new armory for this organization.

IMPROVEMENTS.

During the last two years extensive repairs and improvements have been made to the State Rifle Range—necessitated in every instance by fair wear and tear, natural deterioration of material or to meet the needs and purposes for which the Range is required. Among these items may be mentioned:

The reconstruction of the skirmish run; rebuilding butts and pits; repairs to administration building; repairing former water supply system and installation of additional engine power with an additional storage tank; necessary improvements to firing line; removal of useless timber and underbrush; installation of a furnace heating system in administration building; a new roof on the building; new pistol butts; a re-survey of range property, which added 16 acres to the range of which there was no previous record; replacing practically all concrete pits on the range, owing to either complete wreck or dangerous conditions. Improved walk-way from range station to buildings.

All improvements are of a permanent character, thus adding to the value of the property as well as to its conveniences and attractiveness. The cost involved in these repairs and improvements was met by the military funds of the State and without additional appropriation by the State. Among the remaining necessary improvements to be made at the earliest practicable date, is the erection of a suitable building to house the regular employees and to contain a mess hall for the troops while on duty at the range.

During the present year the indoor rifle range at the Armory of the Fourth Infantry was rebuilt and put in excellent condition for use in connection with course of instruction for the rifle on armory ranges. The rifle range at the Howard Street Armory was completely rebuilt, and, is now a first class range. The Range is used by the Naval Brigade, First Company, Coast Artillery and First Separate Company.

The Armory and grounds of Troop A have been materially improved by the installation of a heating system and concrete walks which were not provided at the time the armory was constructed.

Indoor ranges have been provided for all the Companies of the First Infantry.

INSPECTIONS.

As required by Section 14, Act of Congress, approved 21st January, 1903, the First Brigade was inspected in 1912 and 1913 by Army officers detailed by the War Department. Their reports indicate that our troops were organized, armed and equipped as required and with minor exceptions were found to be properly instructed and such deficiencies therein as were noted were given prompt attention.

Concurrently with the Federal inspections and in obedience to paragraph 59, Militia Law of Maryland, 1908, as amended, an officer of the Inspector General's Department of the State make like inspection of the First Brigade; his report upon the condition of the troops will be found in an appendix to this report.

The inspection report upon the Naval Brigade will also be found appended to this report.

CAMPS OF INSTRUCTION.

During the year 1912 the first Officer's Camp in the Maryland National Guard was held. Seventy-five per cent. of the commissioned officers attended and received instruction in their duties in the field. The Camp was held for five days near Westminster, Maryland, with Officers from the U. S. Army, detailed by the War Department as instructors. This camp meant the initial step in a radical departure from the ideas and theories theretofore held and followed in the course of instruction to be followed by commissioned officers, due regard being had to their rank. It is a recognized fact that an instructor to be able to impart instruction successfully must be competent in his subject, otherwise failure is the result, no matter how worthy otherwise the instructor may be. Officers in the Military Service are essentially the instructors of the service and with this view in mind, the camp was organized and the course of duties outlined to give the officers elementary instruction and coaching in subjects they would be called upon to teach subordinates, whether commissioned officers or enlisted men. The principle was to have our officers well grounded in the minor elements of the service and then afterwards take up a progressive course in the larger duties of tactical problems.

It was gratifying to observe how readily our officers took to the idea and thoroughly appreciated both the wisdom and practical results obtained.

The Camp was highly successful in every respect and was repeated in 1913 in connection with the Brigade Camp held in July last, at which over eighty-five per cent. of officers attended and received instruction.

In 1912 two regiments of Infantry from Maryland participated in the Camp of Instruction held by the United States at Mount Gretna, Pa. Field problems on a large scale were held at this camp and the regiments returned benefited by their participation in them.

In 1913 a Brigade Camp of Instruction was held at Bel Air, Maryland, in which all troops, excepting First Company, Coast Artillery, participated, and at which Your Excellency attended for several days and had the opportunity of witnessing the troops work out field problems. The results obtained at Camp Phillips Lee Goldsborough were very gratifying and the practical training and efficiency of the troops augmented.

In 1912 the First Company, Coast Artillery, reported at Fort Howard for fourteen days' course of instruction and practice in Coast defence exercises as planned by the Commanding Officer, Artillery District of Baltimore. Reports submitted by the Army Inspector upon the tour of duty of the company showed marked improvement of the company, and especially commended the officers and several non-commissioned officers for the technical knowledge displayed in handling the intricate mechanism of the guns and working out the problems.

In 1913 this Company, owing to unavoidable and unforeseen circumstances, did not participate in any Coast Artillery exercises, confining its drill period exclusively to armory instruction and drill.

INSTRUCTION ON RIFLE RANGE.

By reference to General Orders No. 47 and 54, Series 1912, and No. 67, Series 1913, issued by this office, and published in Part II of this report, give in comprehensive form the results obtained in the instruction of troops on the rifle range during 1912 and 1913. Briefly stated our troops qualified in the use of small arms as follows:

Year	Number Authorized to qualify with rifle	Expert Rifle Men	Sharp- Shooters	Marks- men	Total Qualified	Percent Qualified
1912	2074	133	24	888	1045	50.29
1913	2005	133	16	935	1084	54.12

In the above tables only the three highest grades of qualification were considered and despite the fact that in 1913 there were two companies of Infantry less than in 1912, an increase of four per cent. in qualifications was made.

Apart from the military necessity of troops being well instructed in the use of the rifle and pistol as a weapon of defence as well as one of offence, the thoroughness of training demanded, and self-control required and absolute attention necessary to obtain any degree of proficiency in rifle qualification automatically, develops our officers and men into self-reliant individuals, tends to quicken their intellectual capacity and the open-air life helps to make them physically well and strong—important factors and characteristics to be desired by all.

Qualification by the officers and men of the Naval Brigade received very little attention and encouragement until the present year, when an initial start was made to interest as well as require this course of instruction for this command. Interest has been awakened and it may be safely assumed that the Naval Brigade, in a comparative ratio, will be found in the future satisfactorily rated in this respect.

NAVAL BRIGADE.

In 1912 the Naval Brigade was practically re-organized by the present commanding officer, Commander Ralph Robinson, who assumed command on 9th April, 1912. Practically a complete change has occurred in the commissioned personnel of this command, the wisdom of which is to be seen in the improved conditions and systematic handling of the affairs of the Naval Brigade. This organization upon invitation of the Navy Department, participated in the Cruise of the North Atlantic fleets in the summers of 1912 and 1913.

In 1912 the Navy Department withdrew the U. S. S. ISLE De CUBA and until the writing of this report, the Naval Brigade had only the torpedo boat, U. S. S. SOMERS. The absence of a larger vessel somewhat, and necessarily so, restricted the scope of instruction in seamanship and the handling of moderate sized guns of man-of-war type. The Navy Department this month assigned the U. S. S. MONTGOMERY for duty with this State, and this vessel is of such type as to permit of a very thorough course of instruction for the Naval Brigade.

NATIONAL AND STATE MATCHES.

National: In 1913 the State sent to Camp Perry, Ohio, a rifle team to compete in the national matches as provided by the United States Government and in which teams from the Army, Navy, Marine Corps and the several States, Territories and District of Columbia participated.

The result of my observation of these matches convinces me that under the present system of preliminary practice on the part of teams preparatory to the match gives a material advantage to the Service teams against teams sent by the States, and unless all conditions are equalized so as to put all teams in the future matches on equal footing, Maryland should not send a team, but the money allotted to meet the expense, be applied to further development of our men on the State Range to the end that we will have a larger number of good shots, rather than a few excellent shots.

State: By reference to General Orders Nos. 47 and 54, series 1912, and No. 67, series of 1913, issued by this office, give the results obtained in rifle practice and the State Matches. It is very gratifying to note the marked increase in the general efficiency and qualification of our men with the rifle and revolver and the great amount of interest taken by the organizations, as such, and by individuals in the Matches shot annually. Generally, the participants were evenly matched as to ability, thereby creating keen and enthusiastic competition, which all tends to promote and increase the efficiency of the man armed with the rifle and revolver.

EXAMINATION OF COMMISSIONED OFFICERS.

The method prevailing prior to 1913 in the examination of commissioned officers, for original appointment or promotion, were found to be entirely unsatisfactory either in practice or for record and in a measure the scope then required either incomplete for some grades or too extensive for other grades. By General Orders No. 39, series of 1913, this office sought to rectify these conditions and the results shown by reports of the Board of Examiners filed since the adoption of the new methods and the new scope of examinations justify the change and in due time will fulfill all expectations.

ANTI-TYPHOID IMMUNIZATION.

During the past two years practically all officers and men have received the anti-typhoid vaccination, now obligatory in the regular army. Provision has been made to administer the vaccine to all recruits as enlisted, thus in a short time protecting the officers and men of the National Guard against a very common foe to the health of a soldier. The remarkable success obtained by the Army leaves no room for any question of the wisdom of the treatment. When we consider the rate of typhoid fever in the Army in 1906 per one thousand was 5.66; in 1907, 3.35; 1908, 2.94; 1909, 3.03; 1910, 2.32; 1911, .80; 1912, .18, we must be impressed with the remarkable reduction in typhoid due entirely to the immunizing policy. As far as reported to and known by this Office, there were no cases of typhoid fever during or after the Brigade Camp of the Maryland National Guard, due to the extraordinary efforts made by the officers of the Medical Corps to immunize all before attending camp.

INAUGURATION.

The entire Maryland National Guard took part in the parade incident to the inauguration of His Excellency, The President of the United States, on the fourth of March last. From the favorable criticisms heard from representative citizens, together with the favorable commendations made by the press, it will be seen that our troops were second to none in soldierly conduct, appearance in the parade, and it should be another incident of which the people of our State can take great pride in.

EMERGENCY CALL.

On the 30th December, 1913, at 5.15 p. m., this office received instructions from you to order four companies of infantry to proceed to Chestertown, Maryland, and there to report to the Judges of the Circuit Court for Kent County for the purpose of preserving order, protecting life and property—threatened by certain law-defying persons in connection with preliminary judicial trial of two negroes charged with murder. At 5.30 p. m. the Colonel, Fifth Infantry, reported to me at the Armory of the Regiment, and at 6 p. m., the Commanding General of the Brigade arrived. Orders were issued for four companies, armed, equipped and supplied with riot ammunition to be prepared to leave at the earliest possible hour. At 8.35 p. m., under command of Major D. W. Jenkins, the battalion left the Armory and proceeded to Chestertown, one company via state steamer from Annapolis, and three companies via Penna. R. R. special train service. The Company that went by state steamer arrived at Chestertown at 3.15 a. m., the 31st December; the remaining three companies arrived at 12.15 midnight. Brigadier General Charles D. Gaither accompanied the troops in an advisory capacity. His report upon the duty performed will be found as an appendix in this report. The Judges of the Court having reached a decision to continue the case against the accused, the men were remanded to the City Jail in Baltimore and under escort of Company G, the civil authorities in charge of the prisoners, as well as the latter, left Chestertown on the morning of the 31st December, 11.30 o'clock, on the steamer McLANE, arriving in Baltimore at 3.45 p. m., where the prisoners and their police guard left for the City Jail. The remaining three companies left Chestertown by rail for home stations the same day at 1.15 p. m., arriving in Baltimore at 5.10 p. m. By 6 p. m., the 31st December, the troops had been dismissed from further duty and they proceeded to their respective homes.

No untoward event of any character occurred and the entire movement of troops to and from Chestertown, as well as their stay in the town, was characterized by the best of soldierly conduct, tact and every effort to avoid intensifying the excited feelings of the local populace. This tour of duty is but another instance demonstrating to the people of the State the preparedness of our troops, their loyalty to their State and their soldierly conduct when called upon to perform any duty.

ADDITIONAL TROPHIES.

During 1913 the National Guard of this State received handsome silver cups for award in Small Arms Practice from the Maryland Society Sons of the Revolution and from Mr. George Walters, of Baltimore, Md. Both cups are the property of the State and are awarded annually as follows: To the enlisted man who shows during the target season the greatest degree of proficiency and improvement in the all-around work in small arms practice and in promotion of the science of rifle shooting. The Sons of the Revolution Cup, his name, rank, and command engraved thereon and to be held by him for one year, with an appropriate medal from the State to the winner, which becomes his personal property. The Walters' Company Team Trophy is annually competed for by teams authorized from each company, troop or division of the Naval Brigade, the winning team to hold trophy for one year with a silver medal to each member of winning team. At the present time the National Guard of the State possesses sixteen trophies, shot for annually in rifle and pistol competition.

SPANISH-AMERICAN WAR AND SERVICE MEDALS.

Chapter 530, Acts of General Assembly of Maryland, 1906, provides for rewarding "Those members of the Maryland National Guard who volunteered for service in the Spanish-American War" with medals of appropriate designs. This office in 1913 decided to carry into effect the provisions of the above law, but upon advice from The Attorney-General of the State, under date of March 5th, 1913, delayed further action until a specific appropriation for the purpose can be secured from the Legislature.

Chapter 103, Acts of General Assembly of Maryland, 1908, provides: "To promote efficiency, and as a reward for continuous service, the Commander-in-Chief shall have power, under regulations to be prescribed by him, to issue service medals of appropriate designs to officers and enlisted men of the Maryland National Guard, who shall complete ten years of continuous service." No attention was ever given to this commendable legislation until 2nd May, 1913, when General Orders No. 32, A. G. O., were issued establishing regulations under which service medals will be issued annually. The distribution of these medals to officers and men who are entitled to them is a proper and just recognition of faithfulness to duty and a strong incentive to younger members of the National Guard to continue in service, thus retaining officers and men who are experienced and trained in military knowledge and helping to keep at a minimum the enlisting and discharging of enlisted personnel which unfailingly occurs where the service does not hold out in the future some official recognition, however slight it may be.

PUBLICITY CAMPAIGN.

In the spring of 1913, the field officers of the Maryland National were assembled with a view of devising ways and means whereby the general public, more especially the young men, could be interested in and attracted to the National Guard. As a result of this meeting a publicity committee was formed, charged with a general dissemination of facts. The initial step was taken at Camp Phillips Lee Goldsborough in July last, when by invitation of this office committees visited the camp from the Builders' Exchange, Chamber of Commerce and Merchants and Manufacturers' Association in Baltimore City. These gentlemen were given every opportunity to see the National Guard in Camp—their mode of life, their method of meals, their scheme of instruction, tours of military duties and had explained to them the scope and character of our citizen soldiery, both in the status of State troops and as auxiliary troops to the National Government. From the expressions of commendation and the lively interest shown by these gentlemen, I cannot but feel that the real object and necessity of a well trained Militia was better understood by them than before their visit. They saw and appreciated real, live men, from among themselves, earnest and zealous in performance of serious duties—and not the popularly fancied soldier. During the Fall more or less effort along this line was continued and it is not inappropriate here to invite attention to the failure of the young men living in Maryland to apply for service in the National Guard, and to ask your cooperation in bringing to the attention of citizens the necessity of a more active support of the militia organizations having headquarters in and about Baltimore.

My investigation discloses that the indifferent attitude of young men is due to the neglect of the general public to realize and to bring up the young men of the community in the belief that service in the National Guard is essentially a public service, and involves the discharge of a civic duty to the State and nation; second to none in dignity and importance.

The people of Maryland are contributing by legislative appropriation to the support of these militia organizations in order to achieve the results aimed at, namely, the creation of a large body of citizens accustomed to the conditions, and fairly efficient in the routine, incident to a life under arms. Moreover, at no time hitherto has the Federal Government given this State more spirited cooperation or been more generous in the supply of material in its effort to accomplish practical results.

Sound business policy alone should impel the public to see that the money, the time and the efforts devoted to the training of a citizen soldiery give the largest possible return. Yet what can be accomplished if the young men best qualified for service of arms not only are not encouraged to go into the militia, but in most instances are actually discouraged by their parents and others to whom their training is committed.

In a word, the responsibility for this state of affairs must not be placed with the young men, but with the elder citizens.

The view that has hitherto prevailed in this State and everywhere among self-reliant nations that a young man must be prepared to make sacrifices for the public weal, even to the point of giving his life in defense of the State or Nation, should be tenaciously held to and indoctrinated with the other primary virtues from infancy to manhood.

It is vital, if the system of defense by citizen soldiery is to be preserved, that every young man physically able to bear arms should be given and encouraged to take the opportunity to join the organized militia of his State. Yet, apparently, the commercial and industrial conditions of today are such as to more or less openly deter our young men and to regard a public spirited display of patriotism with apathy and an insensibility to their own interests.

To overcome any objections it is only necessary to state what is a positive fact—that a young man employed in any business capacity who is also a member of the National Guard, with rare exception, is a better man, therefore a more efficient employee, as a result of the systematic training received, mentally and physically, by reason of the discipline imposed, the self-control and respect demanded and the methodical life required.

There has never been a time in the history of the National Guard of this State when young men serving in it could acquire so high a degree of efficiency as at present. At no time has it been more effectively organized, nor has it ever been so well prepared for immediate service as it is today. Yet public indifference to the results to be attained has become so great that instances have been reported to me where employers have discharged young men because they were called out for militia duty, and others where employers have refused to take into their employ men serving in the Guard. This sort of thing strikes right at the root of the militia system. It may be impossible to correct it by legislation, but every such employer can be reached by an aroused and indignant public opinion, which, after all, is the strongest sanction back of legislation.

May I, therefore, urge your Excellency to exert every means at your command to bring the citizens of Maryland to realize that the militia organizations of Maryland are entitled to their most enthusiastic support, but that they cannot be expected to produce the results required of them if they are unable to secure recruits.

Finally, it may be confidently asserted that young men cannot be gotten to enlist readily until the view prevails among all classes, irrespective of social and business status, that service with the militia is a civic duty that cannot be shirked without failing to discharge a most important obligation to the State and to the Nation.

MILITIA LAW.

Necessity has arisen requiring a number of important changes in the Militia Law of Maryland. The present law was enacted in 1908 with amendments by the Legislature by Acts of 1910 and 1912, and materially advanced the interests of the National Guard. However, a close study of military necessities, the constant effort to further promote the efficiency of the Military forces of the State and the duty of the State to meet the needs and necessities of the service, require that certain provisions of the present law be either repealed or amended. The most important changes in the present law are required to meet the Federal Militia Law and regulations of the War Department made pursuant thereto, upon compliance by the State depends the allotment of Federal appropriations towards the maintenance of the National Guard of the State, which allotment is absolutely required to meet the cost of uniforms, arms, equipment and miscellaneous military stores, and for camp purposes, thus relieving the appropriation being made by the State to meet the cost incident to the items mentioned.

CONVENTIONS.

This State was represented by delegates, selected from the officers of the organized militia of Maryland, in the convention of the National Guard Association of the United States held in Norfolk, Va., 1912, and in the Chicago, 1913. The object of the Association is to further the interests of the National Guard of the country, primarily, in its relations to the Federal Government, generally, by an interchange of views upon principles vitally affecting the efficiency of the National Guard as a co-ordinate branch of State Government. In 1912 this office deemed it advantageous to alternate the officers attending the convention and this policy was pursued in 1912 and 1913. The idea is to permit all officers, as far as practicable, to become familiar with the national issues of the organized militia.

The twenty-first annual meeting of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, by invitation of the State, extended through delegates appointed by this office, was held in Baltimore City in October, 1912. A large attendance of medical officers from the U. S. Army, the National Guard of the several States, China, Japan, England, Canada, Mexico and France attended, and the hospitalities of Maryland were tendered both in Baltimore, by our officers generally and in Annapolis by Your Excellency. It is gratifying to note here that the delegates stated this meeting to have been the most successful ever held.

In 1913 the Association held its twenty-second meeting in Denver, Colorado, to which Maryland sent three medical officers as delegates. A report of this meeting will be found appended to this report.

U. S. ARMY DETAILS.

Inspector-Instructor: In 1913, Major Robert Alexander, U. S. A., who had been on duty with Maryland since 1911, was relieved by the War Department and upon application by this office, Captain G. Arthur Hadsell, Third Infantry, was detailed.

Sergeants-Instructor: The War Department has detailed for duty as instructors three Sergeants of Infantry.

Both the Inspector-Instructor and the Sergeants-Instructor have been assigned by this office to duty with the First Brigade, and their time is fully occupied in carrying out the lines of instruction duty as laid down by the Commanding-General.

CONCLUSIONS.

The appropriation available for the maintenance, equipment and general efficiency of the National Guard of Maryland for the years 1912 and 1913, has been applied for the purpose intended by the law in the fullest measure consistent with the largest return possible. In a service where the officers and men are called upon to give their service and time during the armory drill season, approximating ten months in each year, without compensation, it is necessary to meet the situation by providing accommodations that both attract and meet the needs and necessities of the service. With this view in mind every effort has been made to improve armories and provide for their up-keep. While during the past two years much has been accomplished in this respect, much remains to be done before conditions can be said to be entirely satisfactory. The same principle actuated the improvements undertaken and completed at the Rifle Range. The people of Maryland have ever had and today have reason to be proud of their National Guard and it is confidently felt they are willing to be liberal in the support of the constitutional co-ordinate branch of their State government. In proportion to the funds available for the maintenance, equipment and promotion of the general efficiency of the National Guard will be the tangible asset to the State of a well-organized, completely equipped and thoroughly instructed Militia. In order, therefore, to carry to a successful completion during the next two years the object of an organized militia, it is urgently recommended that the Legislature of Maryland at its January, 1914, session, allow and provide for twenty-five thousand dollars increase in the annual appropriations for 1914 and 1915 respectively.

The National Guard as a whole and this office in particular, are grateful to Your Excellency, for the personal and official interest actively taken to promote the interests of the service. During the past two years, it has been our pleasure to have had you present on a number of occasions, national, state and regimental in character. Your particular interest in the administrative branch of the service has been productive of greater efficiency in every respect.

I desire to acknowledge in the most sincere manner possible the loyalty of the officers and faithfulness of the enlisted men of the Maryland National Guard which sterling qualities have ever marked their services. It is both a high honor and privilege to commend them to Your Excellency, as their Commander-in-Chief.

In final conclusion I wish to testify to the faithful and conscientious performance of duty at all times of those employed in this office and in the office of the acting Quartermaster General and at Saunders Range. In a large measure is the proper conduct of the affairs of these offices due to the efficient and loyal assistance rendered.

Very respectfully,

CHARLES F. MACKLIN,

The Adjutant General.

Office of the Acting Quartermaster General, Fifth Regiment Armory.

BALTIMORE, December 29, 1913.

*From the Military Storekeeper, State of Maryland,
To the Adjutant General, State of Maryland.*

SUBJECT: REPORT OF OPERATIONS OF MILITARY STOREHOUSE.

1. In obedience to verbal instructions from your office, I report as follows relative to the conditions and operations of the State Military Supply Depot for the years 1912 and 1913:

1st. Condition good.

2nd. All supplies on hand are of the United States pattern and sufficient to meet the requirements of the minimum strength of the Organized Militia as now authorized by law.

2. During the last two years the State has been supplied with sufficient pyramidal tentage (latest pattern) to meet the requirements of the various units of the several organizations. The First Infantry has been supplied with the new pattern field range, No. 1, and there are sufficient in store of this pattern to meet the requirements of the other organizations. On the whole, it would be hard to improve upon the quality or increase the quantity of the supplies on hand ready for immediate issue in case of need.

3. Too much can not be said in praise of the improvements authorized for the betterment of the office and issue room combined, which under the present administration has been converted into a first-class office commensurate with the requirements of a supply depot such as the State of Maryland is compelled to maintain to meet the requirements of its land and naval forces.

4. In addition the lower end of the storeroom has been fitted with cupboards and otherwise improved to such an extent that the issuing clerks are no longer compelled to spend hours in search of an article which, under the improved condition, can be gotten hold of and made ready for issue without trouble.

This fact can be more readily appreciated when we consider that it requires 32 different sizes of breeches, 18 sizes of coats, 72 sizes of shoes, with corresponding sizes of hats, caps, etc., which must be kept on hand in order that each individual man may be properly fitted.

5. Referring to so much of my report for 1908 and 1909 as relates to the proper accounting for property when transferred, etc., the system has been in operation during the last eight months and the result so far bears out the wisdom of its adoption.

6. It is suggested that all accountable officers be bonded in sums necessary to cover property losses, not to exceed $500 in any case, the premiums to be paid by the State. This is, more than ever, made necessary on account of the provisions of Circular No. 9, Division Militia Affairs, Washington, August 27, 1913, which practically holds the State accountable for every article of clothing, etc., and under its conditions the State, while allowed a dropping allowance, is compelled to produce and file satisfactory evidence with the United States Return that every article so dropped had become unserviceable and was destroyed in the presence of a disinterested officer, whose sworn evidence must be filed therewith. Such a course, in my opinion, will go far toward checking the very serious losses constantly occurring, and if it bears no other result, will certainly stimulate accountable officers in bestowing greater care and attention to the United States property intrusted to their keeping.

7. It is a source of very great satisfaction to this department, and should be to the Adjutant General of the State, to know that after fourteen years, the State of Maryland (with a very few exceptions) is able to gather together from every part of the State the revolvers and holsters issued by the United States for use of the Organized Militia, and make them ready for return to the United States Government upon receipt of the new arm (Colt's automatic pistol, calibre 45), which has already been ordered issued to this State.

J. C. MARSHALL,

Captain and Assistant to the Acting Q. M. Gen. of Maryland.

Reports of Officers

Report of the Commanding General, First Brigade Maryland National Guard.

HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE.

BALTIMORE, October 20, 1913.

From the Commanding General, First Brigade, M. N. G.

To the Adjutant General, State of Maryland.

Subject: Annual Report of Operations of the Brigade.

I beg to submit the following report upon the condition of the Brigade and upon the operations from the first of October, 1912, to the first of October, 1913.

On the first of October, 1913, I assumed command of the Brigade in obedience to General Orders, No. 46, A. G. O., series of 1912. At that time the Brigade consisted of:

Infantry.—Three regiments of twelve companies each and one separate company.

Cavalry.—One troop.

Sanitary Troops.—One hospital corps company.

Coast Artillery.—One company.

The strength of the organizations above named on the first of October, 1912, was as follows:

Organization.	Enlisted
	Officers.	Men.	Total.
Brigade Headquarters.....	3	0	3
First Infantry.....	56	598	654
Fourth Infantry.....	50	632	682
Fifth Infantry.....	52	500	552
First Separate Company.....	2	55	57
Troop "A".....	4	44	48
First Company, Coast Artillery.....	3	44	47
Company "A," Hospital Corps.....	2	37	39
Brigade.....	172	1,910	2,082

The strength of the Brigade on the first of October, 1913, was as follows:

Organization.	Enlisted
	Officers.	Men.	Total.
Brigade Headquarters.....	11	3	14
First Infantry (ten companies).....	47	537	584
Fourth Infantry.....	51	591	642
Fifth Infantry.....	49	573	622

First Separate Company.....	3	56	59
Troop "A".....	5	60	65
First Company, Coast Artillery.....	3	25	28
Field Hospital, No. 1.....	2	34	36
Brigade.....	171	1,879	2,050

The increase of strength in Brigade Headquarters is caused by G. O., No. 17, A. G. O. c. s.

Two companies of the First Infantry, "B" and "K," were mustered out in the early spring of 1913 by General Orders, No. 26 and 36, A. G. O. c. s. These companies have not been replaced, but it is expected that two new companies will be organized before the first of next year.

The First Company, Coast Artillery, shows a considerable decrease in enlisted strength and the Company is below the minimum required by the State Law and the National Regulations. In this organization there seems to be a lack of cohesiveness and unless a concerted effort is made on the part of the officers and men of the Company it will have to be mustered out of the service.

PART II.

INSTRUCTION.

A school for all infantry officers, line and staff, of the Brigade was conducted during the indoor drill season of 1912-1913, as laid down in Special Orders, No. 40, these Headquarters series of 1912, a copy of which is on file in your office.

Non-commissioned officers' schools were also held under the same conditions and examinations were written and held at stated periods as announced in the aforesaid mentioned special orders.

This system of study was found to be beneficial and the examinations in Infantry Drill Regulations, Firing Regulations, Field Service Regulations and Map Reading were made by a series of questions being prepared by the Brigade Commander and the Inspector-Instructor and sent to each officer and his written answers were graded by the same board.

A marked improvement was shown during the course and I feel certain that the knowledge derived was most beneficial. It is my intention to continue officers' schools during the coming indoor season; those who attained the proficiency mark of 75 per cent. will this year be advanced to higher grade of study.

Cavalry officers and non-commissioned officers were also organized into classes and required to follow the course of instruction as laid down in Special Orders, No. 39, these Headquarters series of 1912. The scope of this examination being in the hands of the Inspector-

Instructor of Cavalry assigned to this District, Lieut. W. H. Bell, and his reports show that both officers and men profited by the course of study.

Indoor instruction for the organizations of the Brigade followed the schedule of study for officers and non-commissioned officers, and was progressive in its character and fully covered the Drill Regulations, and the knowledge shown by the enlisted men from instruction so acquired was most satisfactory, as shown when the Brigade was in camp this summer.

PART III.

PARADES.

On the fourth of March, 1913, the entire Brigade proceeded to Washington to take part in the Inaugural Parade. The attendance on that day was most satisfactory and the showing made by the Brigade was gratifying.

The Fourth and Fifth Infantries, Troop "A" and Field Hospital, No. 1, have been granted permission to parade, armed and equipped upon occasions particularly applicable to these organizations, but no other parade of the Brigade has taken place during the past year.

PART IV.

INFANTRY OFFICERS' CAMP OF INSTRUCTION.

Officers' camps of instruction were held in obedience to General Orders, No. 21, A. G. O. c. s., for two periods, one of six days preceding the Brigade encampment for lieutenants of the line and staff from 7th to 12th July, 1913, inclusive, and one from the 22nd to 26th, inclusive, for captains and field officers. By authority granted by you at the camp of captains and field officers, a few lieutenants, who were able to give the time, were permitted to remain and obtained much useful information.

I consider the officers' camps of the utmost importance and the results obtained from these two tours of instruction produced most excellent results. The course of instruction followed in both of these officers' camps, as announced in Circulars Nos. 2 and 4, these Headquarters, c. s., copies of which are attached to this report.

The War Department assigned to duty during these encampments the following officers:

Major Robert Alexander, Infantry, Inspector-Instructor.

First Lieutenant Charles C. Herman, Third Infantry.

First Lieutenant Wiley E. Dawson, Twenty-first Infantry.

First Lieutenant Donald J. McLachlan, Twenty-second Infantry.

Second Lieutenant George F. Patten, Thirteenth Cavalry.

Major Paul C. Hutton, Medical Corps.

In the officers camp, as you will note by the circular giving the course of instruction, the lieutenants were organized as a company of infantry and drilled each day by the United States Instructors. This plan was found to be most efficacious and it is thought that this coming indoor season will show great improvement in the instruction and precision that is required in executing close order movements. The same plan was followed with the captains of companies, and it is felt that this method of instruction is one from which great benefit will be derived.

The work done by the United States Instructors was most satisfactory and they were most careful, capable and efficient instructors and were ready at all times to give their best efforts. My thanks and the thanks of all the officers of the Brigade are due to these gentlemen for their splendid work and for their earnest endeavors to make the camp instructive and satisfactory.

The officers of Troop "A" were sent to an officers' school at Chickamauga for a period of eight days—Lieutenants Cockey and Heslop attending—and they undoubtedly obtained great benefit from the trip.

The Coast Artillery officers were sent to Portland, Maine, for a period of seven days and were greatly benefited by the tour of duty.

PART V. ENCAMPMENTS.

The bi-annual encampment of the Brigade was held at Belair, Maryland, from the 13th to the 21st of July, 1913, upon a site selected by the Board of Officers appointed in Special Orders, No. 9, A. G. O. c. s. The encampment was successful. The reports of the chiefs of the different staff departments are enclosed herewith to be included in this report. The report of the Chief Quartermaster and Chief Commissary have already been sent to your office and it is requested that they be included.

The scope of instruction followed at the encampment is announced in Circular No. 7, these Headquarters c. s., and was followed successfully and satisfactorily. Attention is directed to the fact that during the nine days of the encampment the organizations of this Brigade were exercised in advance guard formations for all organizations; as outposts with patrols, all organizations; a meeting engagement, the Brigade being divided into two forces; retreat and pursuit; advance and rear guard formations, and attack and defense of an entrenched position. One day was devoted to close and extended order.

In all the above exercises the troops were brought back to their permanent camp in time for dinner, except on July 16th and 18th, when the organizations were bivouacked for the exercises of the next day, camps being established on the 16th in the location selected for, the First and Fourth Infantry by 12 o'clock and the Fifth Infantry and Troop "A" marching out in the afternoon in time to get their suppers in their bivouac camp. On July 18th all organizations bivouacked at night, the exercises beginning at 2.30 in the afternoon and continuing until 9 P. M., and resumed at 5.05 A. M. the next morning; all troops were back in their permanent camp by 10.00 A. M., July 19th.

It is felt that this Brigade demonstrated during this tour of duty its ability to take care of itself in a creditable manner and that the officers and men obtained much useful information and experience. It is particularly gratifying to be able to report that the behavior of the troops at all times during this tour of duty was most creditable and that they left behind them in Belair and its vicinity a most satisfactory reputation.

The tentage for the enlisted men was of the newest kind, having been purchased by you, and aided in reducing the amount of space needed in camp and in transportation.

The attendance of the Brigade for the nine days and the attendance figures at drills and exercises are enclosed herewith marked Appendix "A" and "B."

PART VI. RECOMMENDATIONS.

It was our experience during the encampment that one of our great troubles is the lack of proper wheel transportation, the hire of wagons and teams—the wagons being of different sizes and construction—making it almost impossible to limit and gauge the proper amount of property that should be carried by organizations in the field. I, therefore, recommend that the State purchase at least thirty field wagons that can be placed under the control of the Brigade Quartermaster and allotted by him to organizations as needed. This recommendation increases that made by you while Brigade Commander by eighteen wagons.

2. From the experience of the tour of duty held this summer, I feel that the efficiency of the Brigade can be increased by changing the method of the bi-annual encampments. Instead of selecting a definite site and going into permanent camp, I believe it is possible that if my recommendation for field transportation can be approved, to have a tour of duty of the Brigade lasting for nine or ten days in which no permanent camp will be established, but that the Brigade will be mobilized at some point and from there divided along parallel roads and moved through the country, carrying its equipment and bivouacking at night. This will reproduce the actual conditions and will exercise the officers and men in their duties and will enable the supply department officers to gain useful experience and I believe will be cheaper in the end.

3. I recommend that an officers' camp of instruction be held each year for at least six days, and in the off years for ten days, and that the medical officers of the Brigade be included.

4. The great obstacle that we have to contend with at the present time is the lack of interest by the public in the necessity for an efficient National Guard. For some reason the general public in our State has not yet taken up the serious and patriotic side of belonging to the National Guard. It seems almost incredible in a city like Baltimore and a State like Maryland, with the magnificent heritage of military prowess that the State has shown in all the wars of the nation, that we are unable to maintain at their full strength two regiments of infantry in Baltimore with its population of more than 600,000. The enlisted strength of the Fourth and Fifth Regiments show only a little over 1,100 in the two organizations. To prepare one's self to be able to efficiently defend the country is surely an obligation that rests upon each and every man as he reaches the proper age, and outside of the regular army, the only way that he can do that and be satisfied that he is capable of so defending his flag if needed, is by service in the National Guard. It is, therefore, earnestly hoped that some method will be devised to awaken the necessary interest in the public in our National Guard and thus enable us to keep up our forces to the proper standard of numbers.

5. I am under many obligations to the officers of my personal and attached staff for their untiring efforts to aid in the civic duty of increasing the efficiency of the Brigade. I desire also to record my appreciation of the services rendered by Major Robert Alexander, Seventeenth United States Infantry, who has been on duty with the Brigade for the past two years as inspector-instructor. His ready compliance with all requests and his earnest endeavor to better conditions for increasing efficiency were most helpful and I feel that his tour of duty has been of distinct advantage to us.

6. While the Brigade during the past year shows a slight decrease of enlisted strength, I feel that it has not lost anything in efficiency.

CHARLES D. GAITHER,
Brigadier General.

REPORT OF THE
APPENDIX "C."

SEPTEMBER 20, 1913.

From the Adjutant, First Brigade, M. N. G.To the Commanding General, First Brigade, M. N. G.

Subject: Report Camp Phillips Lee Goldsborough, Belair, Md.,
July 13 to 21, 1913.

1. In obedience to your instructions, I have the honor to submit the following report as Brigade Inspector for the tour of duty at Camp Phillips Lee Goldsborough, Belair, Maryland, 13th to 21st July, 1913.

2. Owing to the movement of the troops being made over the Maryland and Pennsylvania Railroad, it was necessary to divide each train into two sections, which prevented the regiments detraining as a whole.

ARRIVALS.

FOURTH INFANTRY.

The first section of the train transporting the Fourth Infantry, containing Headquarters and one battalion, arrived at the Maryland and Pennsylvania station at Belair at 4.30 A. M., July 13, detrained promptly to the bugle, leaving cars in good condition. This battalion moved up the road about a hundred yards, stacked arms and awaited the arrival of the second section containing the two remaining battalions which arrived at 4.45 A. M. This train was also left in excellent shape, but there was some little confusion in detraining, partly owing to part of the train being halted between two other tracks containing empty cars, making the space for forming after leaving the troop train very cramped. In accordance with paragraph 14, Circular No. 3, Quartermaster's Department, the camp equipage, etc., was loaded on the wagons and accompanied the organizations to the camp site. This Regiment sent its details promptly to unload the baggage cars, as the details from each company had evidently been made on the trains before reaching Belair. There was quite a delay in unloading, as only three wagons were on hand when the trains arrived, this condition being caused by the early hour of arrival and it being impossible for the Brigade Quartermaster, not having any control over the civilian teamsters, to have the necessary number of teams engaged on the spot at the hour set. The wagons were promptly loaded as they arrived and the organization took up the march for the camp.

FIFTH INFANTRY.

The first section of the train containing Headquarters and one battalion arrived at the Maryland and Pennsylvania station at Belair at 9.08, detrained promptly to the bugle and left a clean train; the remaining two battalions arrived on second section at 9.18, detrained in good order, also leaving a clean train. The necessary teams were on hand to receive the camp equipage, etc., of this Regiment, but there was great delay and confusion in getting out the baggage details from companies, as they had evidently not been made before arrival and it was twenty minutes before the details were finally made and at work unloading the cars. Notwithstanding the fact that this Regiment brought to camp fewer men than the two other organizations, they had considerably more equipage and after the Regiment took up the march to camp, wagons were still hauling baggage, etc., to camp.

FIRST INFANTRY.

The First Infantry arrived at Belair station at 12.16, detrained promptly to the bugle, leaving a clean train. The same confusion in regard to baggage details was noticeable here as in the Fifth Infantry. They were not assigned until after leaving the train, causing an unnecessary delay. The loading of the wagons of this organization was somewhat delayed, as the Fifth Infantry was still using some of them for their equipage.

SEPARATE ORGANIZATIONS.

The band of the Fourth Infantry arrived on a train with the Field Hospital and First Separate Company at 10.18 and all detrained quickly and without confusion. Troop "A" arrived at camp in good condition, after marching from their home station at Pikesville, but the Commanding Officer omitted to report his arrival until sent for by the Commanding General.

ERECTION OF CAMPS.

3. All of the organizations erected their camps in good time; the Fourth Regiment is to be commended on erecting their company cook stoves and preparing breakfast for the men immediately upon arrival at the camp site before any other tentage was erected.

DEPARTURES.

FIRST INFANTRY.

4. The First Infantry left camp on the 21st of July, leaving the site well policed, loaded baggage promptly and entrained in seven minutes, leaving at 9.20 A. M.

FOURTH INFANTRY.

The Fourth Infantry moved promptly, leaving an excellent camp site, entrained in six minutes, leaving at 12.50 P. M.

FIFTH INFANTRY.

The Fifth Infantry left a clean camp, leaving at 4.12 P. M., entraining in nine minutes. There was some little confusion in entraining, owing to Company "K" boarding the wrong car and having to change.

SEPARATE ORGANIZATIONS.

The Field Hospital, No. 1, and First Separate Company left at 4.18 P. M., leaving good camp sites, and entrained promptly.

Troop "A" was ordered to leave at reveille, and though their reveille was sounded at 3.30 A. M., they did not leave until 9.30 A. M., taking six hours to break camp and take up the march to home station. They left a squad behind to finish loading their wagon which did not leave for several hours afterward.

OBSERVATIONS.

5. One feature which helped a great deal to make this camp of the most successful ever held in the State of Maryland was the fact there was plenty of room, each organization having its own site somewhat separated, which prevented them being crowded up to one other; each having an entrance of its own which, did away with the necessity for men from one organization passing through another camp to reach their own. The camps of all organizations were in good shape and kept so. Credit for this is partly due to the untiring efforts and frequent inspections and recommendations of Major Robert P. Bay, Chief Surgeon, and Captain H. Arthur Mitchell, Sanitary Inspector.

5. The discipline in all the organizations was excellent and the morale of the troops was unusually good. At taps it was noticed especially that all lights were out promptly and there was an absence of loud talking or noise of any kind. The fact of there being little or no intoxicating liquor on the camp site may have helped to make these points noticeable.

6. In all the maneuvers in the field during the working out of the problems the control of the enlisted men by the company officers was only fair the first few days, but a decided improvement was noticed each day, especially in fire control. The lieutenants showed the results obtained from the lieutenant camp of instruction the week previous to the Brigade Camp. The percentage of officers and men turning out with their companies each morning for drill and maneuver problems was high, with the exception of the first day or two, but after the checking system inaugurated by your order was put into force, there was a great improvement and practically every man except the guard, quartermaster sergeants and cooks were in the field.

7. A great improvement could be made at future camps by the organizations taking a better percentage of their enlisted strength. At Camp Phillips Lee Goldsborough the Fourth Infantry arrived with 517 enlisted men; the Fifth Infantry with 385; the First Infantry with 414; Troop "A," 38; Field Hospital No. 1, 30, and First Separate Company with 55, out of a total enlisted strength of 500, 565, 521, 59, 38 and 56, respectively. With the exception of the Fourth Infantry and First Separate Company, and perhaps the Field Hospital, these figures are poor, and, owing to an order from the War Department requiring 38 enlisted men to a company, it necessitated the Fifth Infantry being reduced from a 12-company regiment to one of nine, and the First Infantry from ten to nine. It is unfortunate that better results could not be obtained in this respect as the enlisted men receive more benefit and learn more of the duties of a soldier in one week at camp than in three months in an armory.

APPENDIX "D."

Office of the Chief Quartermaster, First Brigade, M. N. G.

BALTIMORE, MD., September 26, 1913.

From the Chief Quartermaster, M. N. G.

To the Adjutant General, First Brigade, M. N. G.

SUBJECT: REPORT ON THE EXPENSES OF CAMP PHILLIPS

LEE GOLDSBOROUGH.

Pursuant to G. O. No. 21, A. G. O. C. S., plans were prepared by this department for the establishing of a Brigade Camp and officers' camp of instruction at Belair, Md., during the month of July.

1. The site selected was located on portion of the Bradford and Fulford Farms.

2. A survey and map of the camp was made by this department and on which were located the sites of the different organizations, together with the locations of all buildings, water system, etc.

3. The designs of the bathhouses, latrines and horse shelters were practically the same as used at the camp at Frederick, with the exception that they were sheathed with boards in place of tar paper. The construction of these structures cost more than at any previous camp and the contract was let to the lowest bidder of three, Mr. John McCummings. After the buildings were torn down, the lumber was sold by the department at one and three quarter cents per board foot, the total amount received from the sale being $539.20.

4. The hay and grain was purchased from the Rockford Manufacturing Company of Belair, they being the lowest bidder of five. Hay was purchased at 95 cents per one hundred pounds and oats at $1.70 per one hundred pounds.

5. The transportation of the Brigade from Baltimore to Belair and return was over the Maryland and Pennsylvania Railroad at 50 cents per man per round trip, camp equipage and baggage when hauled on passenger trains carried free. The service performed by that company was most satisfactory, their service being promptly and cheerfully rendered.

6. The hauling in Baltimore was handled by the Briddell Transfer Company, the lowest bidder, in a very satisfactory manner, the price being ten cents per one hundred pounds each way.

7. The teams used by this department while in Belair were furnished by Mr. Henry Bruns at the rate of, for two-horse wagon and driver, $4 per day, and for four-horse wagon and driver at $7 per day. Mr. A. M. Fulford, however, furnished two two-horse wagons at the same rate.

8. The water system was installed by Mr. John Bradley, of Belair, under the direction of this department, and pipe in possession of the State was used in the installation. As the distance to carry the water from the mains of the Belair Water Company was rather great, it was necessary to purchase some additional pipe, amounting to 512 feet two-inch pipe, 1,475 ½ feet one-inch pipe, 146 feet ¾-inch pipe, 228 feet ½-inch pipe. This, together with all old pipe, has been returned to the Military Storekeeper. The bill for installing and removing the water service amounted to $366.49. The water was supplied by the Belair Water Company through meter, but as there has been some complication arisen in the settlement of the bill the account is not as yet closed.

9. Upon request, the Adjutant General placed at the disposal of the department the sum of $5,000 to meet the expenses of the department. This was deposited in the Harford National Bank of Belair and checked out in payment of vouchers covering certain expenses, said vouchers being forwarded herewith.

APPENDIX "E."

Subsistence Department, Office of Chief Commissary.

BALTIMORE, MD., September 29, 1913.

*From Chief Commissary, Subsistence Department, M. N. G.
To the Adjutant General, State of Maryland, Annapolis, Md.*

Subject: Report of operations of Subsistence Department, M. N. G., during tour of duty incident to Camp Phillips Lee Goldsborough, Belair, Md., July, 1913.

Herewith find statements showing in detail the operations of this department during tour of duty outlined above. In order to make this file complete, would request that Exhibit "A," which was forwarded with my communication of September 15, be attached hereto.

The Garrison Ration, as prescribed in Subsistence Manual 1910, was issued on this tour of duty. No saving was authorized, as from past experience it was found no effort was made by the various organizations to avail themselves of this privilege.

A travel ration of canned corned beef, baked beans, bread, coffee, sugar, etc., was issued all troops immediately upon arrival at camp. necessary arrangements were made for troops requiring subsistence enroute, company commanders either being authorized to expend 25 cents per capita per meal, or they were notified of arrangements made by this department for their subsistence.

'Sale of articles carried in the commissary was made to members of the various organizations at cost, the result of which is shown in Exhibit "E."

The value of the ration for this tour of duty was .2940. This was much higher than for former camps, but the increase is occasioned by the increase in cost of meats.

The service of a senior student of the Army School of Cooks and Bakers was procured and this man visited the various company kitchens throughout the Brigade and instructed the quartermaster sergeants and cooks in the proper manner of preparing the ration and also as to best manner of taking care of ration between time of issue by commissary and consumption of same by troops. In my opinion, this man did some good work, it being noted that quite a number of Quartermaster sergeants especially, were watching their issues more closely and appeared to be better posted as regards the quantity of the various articles to which they are entitled, etc.

 APPENDIX "F."

Headquarters First Brigade, Ordnance Department.

BALTIMORE, MD., July 23, 1913.

From the Ordnance Officer, Ordnance Department, M. N. G.

To the Brigade Adjutant, First Brigade, M. N. G.

Subject: Report of the Ordnance Department duties performed at Camp Phillips Lee Goldsborough, July 13 to 21, inclusive.

Final orders from Headquarters relieved me from reporting with the Fourth Infantry, and pursuant to this order I reported for duty at Camp Phillips Lee Goldsborough, Belair, Md., July 13, at 10 A. M., and

I was assigned to the First Infantry as inspecting officer during the camp, my duties consisting chiefly in securing each day an attendance report that showed the number of officers and enlisted men taking part in drills and maneuvers.

A special report upon this part of my duties is submitted in addition to this report.

For July 16, 17, 18 and 19 I was detailed as an umpire and attached to the First Infantry, reporting each day to the senior umpire assigned to that Regiment, and performing such duties as he assigned.

This duty offered an excellent opportunity to observe the intelligent manner the officers carried out their orders, the interest displayed by the men as well as the wonderful manner the various movements were planned and executed.

The Ordnance Department exhausted a rather meagre supply of parts in repairing rifles of the First Infantry. This has never been done before in camp and there was little data upon which to base a requisition.

72,000 rounds of blank ammunition was issued for the various maneuvers, leaving 8,000 in stock.

Saturday afternoon, July 19th, inspection of rifles by company was started and one battalion of the Fourth Infantry finished. The inspection was continued the next day and by 2.30 P. M. completed, Ordnance Sergeant Givan and Captain Edgar, Ordnance Officer of the First Infantry, assisting.

There were some rifles that were missed, but the percentage was small and the inspection was thorough enough to state that the company officers had seen to it that their men cleaned their rifles. My records show but 64 out of the entire number inspected that had not been cleaned, and before I left the company streets the officers had ordered them attended to at once.

Especial attention was directed to broken and missing parts and the data obtained will be utilized as a basis for supplies in the field at another camp.

The following recommendations are offered for the conduct of this department at a future Brigade encampment.

1. Proper tentage for protection of supplies adjacent to the Quartermaster's and Commissary's quarters, with provision for making repairs.

2. Portable racks for gun cleaning for each company in the field.

3. A suitable device to be attached to the support of the pyramidal tent against which the rifles may be stacked while in camp.

4. A sufficient supply of brass cleaning rods long enough to clean the barrel from the breech. Also the issue of at least one cleaning rod and six brass wire brushes to each company.

S. J. FORT,

Major.

Medical Department, Office of Chief Surgeon.

BALTIMORE, Md., September 29, 1913

From the Chief Surgeon, First Brigade, M. N. G.

To the Commanding Officer, First Brigade, M. N. G.

Subject: Report of operations of the Medical Department at Camps of Instruction, 1913.

The Medical Department was represented at the camps of instruction for Officers, July 7th. to 12th. and 22d. to 26th. inclusive by The Chief Surgeon, Sanitary Inspector, and 4 enlisted men of the Field Hospital. A portion of the Field Hospital was erected to care for any and all emergency cases, and the necessary latrines and incinerators were established, which will be referred to in The Sanitary Inspector's report. During these two periods there was absolutely no sickness. One Officer reported with a broken arm but it was recommended that he be allowed to remain which was granted.

During the period of July 13th. to 21st. inclusive the entire Brigade was in camp, which included the Field Hospital commanded by Major Howard E. Ashbury, with 29 enlisted men. The report of the operations of this organization will be found attached to this report and marked "Appendix 'A.'"

The list of medical officers attending the camps of instruction will be found attached to this report and marked "Appendix 'B.'"

The Sanitary Inspector was given entire charge of all Sanitary Arrangements and his report will be found attached to this report and marked "Appendix 'C.'"

The general health of the camp was excellent. A morning sick report was required from all Senior Regimental and Organization Surgeons, and at no time did the consolidated morning sick report show more than five men confined to quarters or hospital. The prevailing complaint being an intestinal disorder, in the majority of cases, directly traceable to the eating of Ice Cream obtained outside of camp limits. The second most prevalent ailment was Poison Oak. Of the injuries only one, that of Private William Barry, Co. "B" 5th. Infantry, who suffered a fractured leg, was of any moment. One case of Appendicitis was transferred to the Base Hospital at Baltimore. All of these cases were able to return home with their commands.

During the maneuvers the Field Hospital, Dressing Stations, and First Aid Stations, with the Line of Communication were established, and a written report with drawings and other illustrations were sent to the Chief Surgeon by the Regimental and Assistant Surgeons after each Maneuver. These reports were complete, and showed not only a profound interest, but a good knowledge of Field Service. The Sanitary conditions of the Field Maneuvers were excellent.

Field Hospital No. 1 with practically its entire equipment, performed its duties in a willing and creditable manner, and the patients were well taken care of, and the enlisted men were well behaved and ready at all times to perform their duties. They were especially proficient in the Field Maneuvers.

The instruction of the medical officers consisted in instruction in paper work, especially in those pertaining to the transferring of sick and wounded, and Field Hospital records. Also morning sick reports and work along the line of communication.

It is earnestly recommended that a school of instruction for medical Officers, together with the line be held.

A copy of "The Military Surgeon" should be sent to each medical officer, and one to the Field Hospital. The subscriptions to be borne by the State.

The blank forms as used by the regular service should be furnished the Medical Department for instruction.

Field Hospital erected in apple orchard facing camp site of Fourth Infantry and between First Separate Company and Troop "A." Regulation Field Hospital scheme carried out, with the exception that only three wards were erected. Instruction of enlisted men consisted of work in the wards, dispensary and operating room, pitching of tents—especially shelter tents—and drill and school of the soldier.

By order of the Chief Surgeon, each regiment was provided with a detached service chest and one guidon for establishment of a regimental infirmary.

APPENDIX "H."

ELKTON, MD., October 4, 1913.

From Sanitary Inspector, First Brigade, M. N. G.

To the Commanding General, First Brigade, M. N. G.

Subject: Sanitary report Camp Phillips Lee Goldsborough,
Belair, Md., September 13 to 21, 1913.

The commanders of each organization were instructed in writing as to sanitary measures on their arrival and made responsible for the same. The water used was from the town supply and was found suitable for drinking purposes and free from contamination. An effort was made to examine all the water at points of bivouac. This was done in every case, the waters showing slight contamination, but not unfit for drinking purposes and with no ill results following. The food supply issued by the Chief Commissary was good. The meat, particularly, was fresh and distributed promptly. No meat was condemned during the encampment, and this was due to the fact that the Commissary Department received a daily supply. This should be done in camps of this kind when possible, for it has been proven that it is impossible to keep meat in good condition when received in carload lots. Bad meat is one of the chief causes for dissatisfaction among the men. The Quartermaster Department furnished promptly and in sufficient quantity crude oil, lime, formalin, etc., necessary for the compliance with the rules of sanitation and assisted the Sanitary Officer when necessary in procuring better sanitary conditions. Incinerators were built at each kitchen of a modified Arnold type. A hole was dug five feet long, three feet wide, at the bottom sloping from nothing at one end to two and a half feet deep at the other, and the bottom and sides paved carefully with stones not smaller than four inches in diameter.

Commanding officers were instructed to build incinerators at once, using one at Brigade Headquarters as pattern, which was done in most cases. Although not all uniform, they answered the purpose well, and with a liberal supply of cord wood all garbage, including the kitchen water, was destroyed in this manner perfectly, and all ashes were removed each morning by wagons detailed for the purpose. It was found that garbage cans were unnecessary, and, I believe, sources of danger and should not be supplied in a camp of this kind.

I recommend that each commanding officer be given plans of incinerator required before leaving his home station. I recommend that instructions for care of incinerator be furnished each kitchen and posted there, and also that a suitable rake be supplied so that the incinerator can be properly cleaned each morning before starting a fresh fire. I would suggest two iron bars, three and a half feet long, one-half inch thick and three or four inches wide, be furnished, to be built in top of incinerator over deep end so that hot water could be furnished in quantities. The kitchens in most cases were clean with noticeable absence of flies. This was due, I believe, to the absence of garbage cans and the efforts of the cooks to destroy at once on the properly built incinerator all debris. The exceptions were noted when civilian cooks were employed. It has been proven in this camp, as well as in previous camps, that the kitchens of civilian cooks are, as a rule, unsanitary and that the cooks cannot be easily disciplined.

The latrines were of a pattern used in previous camps and answered the purpose well, with the exception that the pit should be at least six inches less in width, and the holes in each seat frame considerably larger. More space should be given between seat frames and outside frame to facilitate turning over of seat frame. It was found advisable to burn out the latrines twice daily with crude oil. Civilians were employed to do the work and it was found to be more satisfactory because with the same men to instruct daily they became expert.

I recommend that civilian labor be employed when possible in camps of this kind. One latrine for two companies, as was carried out in the First Regiment, is a better plan than one to a battalion. Lime was used freely in and about the latrines and urinal troughs, also solution of formaldehyde of various strengths. I recommend that the formaldehyde be discontinued, for it was found not to be satisfactory, and a preparation called calophen be used in its place. This is inexpensive and effective, I believe.

The stable manure was burnt daily, with the exception of that from Troop "A," which was daily removed by farmers in the vicinity. Night cans were removed to the latrines by the men and emptied and burnt out with crude oil by the civilian sanitary squad.

In bivouac camps temporary latrines were built at once and properly cared for when breaking camp.

All the organizations, with the exception of the Fifth Regiment, left their camp sites in excellent condition. This Regiment did not use the same amount of care in their police, especially at and around their canteen. The bivouac sites in all cases were left in good condition.

H. ARTHUR MITCHELL.

Trumpet calls for Tuesday, July 18th, 1911, will be announced in subsequent orders.

The first call only of each series will be sounded from these Headquarters. Upon the completion of the last note, the call will be repeated at the headquarters of each regiment and by each separate organization.

A clock in the office at these Headquarters will keep the official time for the entire camp.

Each company will be inspected by one of its officers immediately after call to quarters.

VI. The commander of each regiment and separate organization will prescribe the uniform for the day, unless specially ordered by these Headquarters.

VII. Formation at reveille will be under arms.

VIII. Commanders of regiments and separate organizations will post whatever interior guards are necessary and by details as prescribed in the Manual for Guard Duty. They will also control the question of visitors entering their camps. Visitors, however, will be excluded from the entire camp reservation between Taps and Reveille, and none should be permitted to remain during the absence of an organization from its own camp.

IX. Permission for officers and men of the commands to leave camp at times other than those designated for drill, exercises or other duty, will be given at the discretion of commanders of organizations, but no enlisted men will be authorized to be absent from their commands between Taps and Reveille. Period of absences will be limited from 12.00 Meridian, to 5.30 P. M. and from conclusion of parade to call to quarters. Violations of this regulation will be punished by fine as determined by the Summary Court Officer in each organization and charged against the offender on the company's payroll.

X. Officers and men leaving camp will be required to be in complete unifrom and to keep themselves neat and soldierly in appearance. Coats must be worn and kept buttoned.

XI. Only in exceptional cases will officers or enlisted men be excused from duty, which includes drills and exercises. When enlisted men are excused, it will be by written pass issued by organization commanders. This pass will be shown at the Guard tent of the command to which the man belongs on leaving camp and on return to camp will be left by him with the non-commissioned officer in charge of the guard. Violations of passes will be reported for action by the Summary Court Officer.

XII. All organizations will be mustered and inspected Sunday, 16th July 1911. Rosters showing the name, rank company and regiment, with date of present commission and enlistment of all officers and men will be prepared and held ready for the mustering officer. These rosters will show all officers and men whether present in camp or not.

XIII. Each day at First Sergeant's Call a strength report will be submitted to these Headquarters by commanders of all organizations. On the day of arrival in camp, commanders of organizations will report in person to the Commanding General at three o'clock P. M., submitting at the same time the strength report for that date, which will show in the proper column the entire strength of command "Present and absent" in addition to the actual strength present in camp; on succeeding days, the "Aggregate Last Report" will show only the aggregate of preceding date. Loss and gains in the personnel of organizations will be reported on the proper forms at the hour designated for strength reports.

XIV. An officer from each organization will report to the Adjutant General of the Brigade, daily at one o'clock, P. M.

The Commanding General will ordinarily receive officers on official business at the same hour daily, but this is not to be construed to mean that he will not at any other hour, should it be desirable or important to do so.

XV. The object of this paragraph and the preceding one is to lessen the amount of paper work and systemize business.

Officers who report at the above hour will bring the correspondence of their commands requiring attention at Headquarters. They will receive orders for the following day and replies to inquiries not answered on the preceding day. Officers are requested to present themselves at the office tent; orderlies and civilians having official business for attention will report themselves at the office tent.

XVI. Orderlies carrying official business of these Headquarters to commanders of organizations and chiefs of departments are under instructions to request and receive a receipt for all deliveries.

XVII. The Chiefs of the several departments on duty in camp have been authorized to issue their respective Circulars of information for the instruction and guidance of all concerned; they will be respected and complied with in all respects as if they were the orders of the Commanding General.

XVIII. The issue of supplies to organizations will be at such hours as determined upon by The Chief Quartermaster and The Chief Commissary. Issues will not be made at any other time or in any other manner than as prescribed by them.

XIX. Quartermasters and Commissaries on duty with regiments; officers of the Medical Corps, Ordnance and Pay Departments and commanders of separate organizations desiring information appertaining to the several departments, will apply to the respective chiefs at one o'clock, P. M., daily.

XX. Officers and men will not be permitted to return to home stations without the permission of these Headquarters, and only for good and sufficient reasons. This will be determined as provided by the Militia Law.

Applications in this respect must be made in writing and forwarded through military channels. Applications to receive attention the same day must be received at Headquarters not later than one thirty o'clock, P. M. All received after that hour will receive attention the next day.

* XXI. All express or other packages will be delivered to the quartermasters of regiments and commanders of separate organizations. It will, therefore, be advantageous to all to have such packages sent in care of the officers above designated to insure prompt delivery.

XXII. Hucksters and vendors will not be permitted to carry on their business within the limits of the camp reservation. This will not be construed to prevent milkmen and farmers entering the reservation to sell the produce of their own farms, but they will, however, be required to first obtain written permission from these headquarters.

XXIII. Enlisted men are forbidden to enter the orchards, yards or houses of civilians without their consent. Violations of this regulation, or complaints received, will be investigated and action taken thereon by the Summary Court Officers of all organizations.

XXIV. No animal will be ridden or driven at a trot within the camp limits. Automobiles will be required to slacken speed to within ten miles an hour. Vehicles will be confined to established roadways as laid out and indicated by markers.

XXV. An inspection for ball cartridges will be made by company commanders before each exercise under arms, and a report of such inspection will be made at once to his immediate superior officer. The finding of ball ammunition in possession of any individual or organization will be made the subject of a special report to these Headquarters.

XXVI. The provost marshal and his assistants (to be designated in subsequent orders) are staff officers of the Commanding General, and any instructions given by them, in his name, in the proper discharge of their duties, will be regarded as emanating from him. They will carefully follow the movements of troops and be at all times in touch with the inhabitants of the district to which they may be assigned.

After the completion of an exercise the provost marshal will call upon the owner of the land to point out the damage, if any, that may have been committed. The provost marshal will then cause said damages to be repaired or paid for as provided in the lease.

Care will be taken to avoid frightening loose stock or animals being driven along the roads. The passage of civilians along roads will not be unnecessarily delayed.

If it is found necessary during an exercise to lay down a fence, the number of panels removed will be the least possible consistent with the circumstances of the case.

XXVII. The policing of the latrines will be under the supervision of the organization commanders. Toilet paper will be furnished by the Subsistence Department on ration returns. Urinal cans will be placed in each company street at dusk. Police details will empty the contents into the latrines after reveille and will wash out the cans with milk of lime. Urinating upon the ground within the camp limits is forbidden and made a punishable offense before a summary court.

XXVIII. Scrupulous cleanliness of everything pertaining to the mess will be maintained. Cooks must be clean and neat in person. Food will be protected from flies by wire or cotton screening or by covering with clean cloths. Garbage cans will be placed on a light wooden platform and must be kept covered. Cans and platforms will be kept freshly whitewashed. After cans are emptied, the kitchen details will cleanse them in a manner approved by the sanitary officer.

Company commanders will require their men to wash their hands before eating.

A box filled with stones will be sunk beneath each water tap to take up the overflow. A bench for wash basins will be placed at a convenient point near each company water tap. The ground beneath each bench will be dug out to a depth of at least eighteen inches, and the resulting pit filled with stones. All waste water from basins will be thrown into this pit. The waste water from bath houses will be conducted into covered or stone filled pits. Adjacent to bath houses benches will be constructed by the Quartermaster's Department for laundry purposes and a pit of sufficient size will be dug for the disposal of the soiled water. This pit will be filled with stones. Scrub brushes may be drawn from the Quartermaster's Department by quartermasters of regiments and commanders of separate organizations. The washing of clothes is to be encouraged on the part of the men. Organization commanders will have stable manure collected into two centrally located piles for removal by the Quartermaster's Department.

XXIX. All water, on the camp reservation and adjacent thereto, unless boiled, shall be considered as unsafe for drinking purposes. A water can with spigot will be furnished each mess by the Quartermaster's Department, and will be placed near the kitchen or mess shelter, and kept filled with drinking water that has been boiled. The water system of the camp will be under the immediate control and direction of the Chief Quartermaster, to whom any leak in the pipe line or faucets will be reported. As the water supply for the camp is limited, commanders will guard against waste by detailing orderlies in charge of bath houses and giving instructions as to the care of kitchen faucets and watering troughs.

XXX. Mail will be received and dispatched as arranged by the Quartermaster's Department.

XXXI. The camp telephone system will have direct connection with the wires of the C. and P. Telephone Company.

BY COMMAND OF BRIGADIER GENERAL MACKLIN:

W. W. CROSBY,
Adjutant General.

Inspector General's Department Howard Street Armory.

BALTIMORE, Md., April 30, 1913.

From the Acting State Inspector, M. N. G.

To the Adjutant General, State of Maryland.

Subject: Report of Annual State Inspection.

1. The following report of the inspection made in obedience to general orders No. 8, current series, your headquarters, is submitted. In rendering this report, compliance, as directed by paragraph 4, general orders No. 8, "with the provisions of general orders No. 2, A. G. O. series of 1912" provided for "grading the respective organizations of the First Brigade" is not entirely practicable because of instruction regarding the consideration of drill.

2. Attached are sheets containing a summary on each unit of the Brigade and accompanying are the printed form sheets used for each unit.

3. The following remarks and recommendations of a general character are submitted as pertinent.

REMARKS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

EQUIPMENT.

SHOES.

The condition of the shoes issued by the Government for the guard is on the whole deplorable. As a rule it appears that less care is given to this item of the equipment than to almost any other, in spite of its extreme importance. The shoes are in some cases issued to the men and apparently promptly forgotten by the company commander, except as shortage may be brought to his attention. In other cases, they are issued for a tour of duty, collected on its completion, and then without any care thrown into utterly improper storage, to rapidly deteriorate. In a few cases the company commanders have at least had the shoes cleaned up just previous to re-issue for inspection or other assembly. In a smaller number of instances, the company commanders have had the shoes properly cared for, immediately on their being turned in after use, and have secured the utmost good from their shoes by so doing and by giving them the after attention that may have been needed.

Next in importance to the "belly" of an army may be said to come its "feet," and this matter of care of the shoes is one that should have immediate attention with a view to bringing about a decided improvement of conditions as to this respect in this guard.

The conditions of use of the shoes being perhaps more individual and personal than surrounding almost any other item of equipment issued, hardly fair to place the entire responsibility for their condition on the officer commanding a company and that it might be more just to arrange in some way for this responsibility, in time of peace when the use of the shoes is irregular and more continuous, to be shared by the men themselves.

Such a method as, for instance, charging each man half the cost of his shoes at the first issue thereof to him, the half cost to be deducted from his next pay account—and full cost of each re-issue within a limited period—would it seem too much to bring about the desired result. It is understood such a method has been in force in Massachusetts for some time with much success.

A moderate allowance by the State to each company for the care of its shoes would probably be a good investment for the State to make annually.

HAT CORDS, COLLAR ORNAMENTS, ETC.

A regrettable shortage of hat cords and ornaments, collar ornaments, front sight covers, and of some other minor articles of uniform and equipment was found. A tendency to make light of the value or importance of such exists to some extent and a brief note in this connection seem advisable.

These articles are part of the issued equipment—a little reflection will show that they have their practical value. It has been said that the uniform is what differentiates between an army and a mob. For the sake of discipline, of uniformity and of neatness it is necessary to insist that better care be given to the supply and use of these minor articles.

PERSONNEL.

COMMANDS OF OFFICERS.

Many of the defects noticeable at drill (or in maneuvers) with the men are directly traceable to faults on the part of the officers in giving commands. The men as a whole seem intelligent and anxious to perform the movements desired of them. Some, it is true do not know how to act properly in certain cases but this seem to be due to lack of proper instruction and explanation from the officers and not always to awkwardness or stupidity.

Many times the movements of the men are not what they should be because of the guessing required on their part as to what is desired. The officers are not careful to give their commands with that clearness necessary for their ready comprehension, and the result is generally confusion or only a slow successive performance, following the movements of the better guessers among the men or non-commissioned officers, instead of the prompt, confident and snappy action demanded for military success.

It is not at all necessary for a command to sound fierce or like a hoarse bark for it to be military, and scolding of the men for the confusion resulting from a "mouthed" indistinct command is not only unfair but destructive to good discipline and efficiency. Officers should direct their careful attention to this matter, trite as the above remarks may seem, and it is believed that much improvement in the appearance and action of the men will thereby result. The proportion of well given commands during this inspection was so small as to warrant reference to this important matter.

INSTRUCTION OF THE MEN.

Reference to the men was made under the remarks on "Commands" but it appears worth while to enlarge somewhat on the necessity for better instruction of the officers and men of this command.

Undoubtedly, the schools prescribed by special orders No. 40 should do much good on this line. But it appears from the company drills at inspection that the work should be continued at the drills and otherwise. One of the most effective ways for determining the knowledge of a person, concerning the performance of a command for instance, is to require him to attempt to teach another person how such performance should be had. His own deficiencies will readily become apparent to both and probably the result will be that the teacher as well as the pupil will quickly inform himself in the correct manner or responding to the command.

Hence, officers in command should occasionally take the time to explain fully but concisely the performance of their preparatory commands before putting the command of execution, and should require the non-commissioned officers to do likewise with their squads whenever the opportunity can be seized. The results should be beneficial to all.

INSTRUCTION OF OFFICERS.

The company reports of the inspecting officer on this inspection will probably give the impression that a great deal of criticism is directed against the officers of the Brigade. The criticism is not meant unkindly, but it seems nevertheless to be warranted, and the officers of the Brigade as a whole do not appear to be properly informed or practiced in their duties. It is an obligation on the part of an officer in the guard to fully inform himself as to the duties of the men, and the details of such at drill, etc. It is then his duty to impart to the men, as opportunity may offer, instructions on these lines. Too many officers of the guard do not know enough about the details mentioned to be able to properly perform their duties without such instructions. If practicable, it would seem that an occasional school of the officers, where the latter should fill the places in a company from private to captain, would be distinctly beneficial in imparting to the officers the information needed by the men, and so that the officers themselves could later instruct the men more efficiently.

TRUMPET SIGNALS.

In all the Regiments, the musicians are enlisted and assigned by companies. In all three the musicians drill with the band and not with the companies. While this arrangement probably results in better field music or band, it is a distinct disadvantage in that it disassociates the musicians from their companies and prevents the latter from acquiring a proper knowledge of calls or signals such as is necessary in extended order movements.

It is recommended that steps be taken in some way to better familiarize the officers and men with such signals on the trumpet.

DEVELOPMENT OF COMPANY OFFICERS.

From the report of the acting inspector of the Brigade Camp at Frederick in 1911 will probably be gained the impression that the acting inspector considered the First Regiment superior; in some ways at least at that time, to the other two regiments in the camp. The impression gained from the recent inspection of the three regiments by the same officer tends to confirm his earlier views, especially along the lines of development of the company officers. It occurs to him that this greater efficiency of the company officers as a whole in the First Regiment may be due, partly at least, to the fact that in this Regiment, the companies being separated in various locations, these officers are more largely thrown on their own resources in the matter of caring for and instructing their commands.

In the City Regiments, there appears to be too much dependence placed by the company officers on the regimental headquarters and too much assistance or support constantly demanded of the latter to permit of the proper development of the company officer themselves.

It would seem advisable for the officers commanding the City Regiments to consider this matter somewhat, and, by proper methods, to attempt to develop, to a greater extent, the resourcefulness, self-reliance and initiative desirable in the company officers.

BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS.

Brigadier General Charles D. Gaither.

Inspected 26th March, 1913. Total strength, ten officers and two enlisted men.

Present at inspection, nine officers and two enlisted men. Absent, one officer; Major Phelps.

FIRST INFANTRY.

Colonel Charles A. Little.

Headquarters—Hagerstown.

Inspected 12th March, 1913.

Field, Staff and Non-Commissioned Staff, total strength, nineteen officers and eight enlisted men.

Present at inspection twelve officers and seven enlisted men. Absent, seven officers and one enlisted man.

BAND, WESTMINSTER.

Drum Major, Ferdinand Bonnotte.

Chief Musician, A. Bailey Morelock.

Principal Musician

Inspected 13th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty.

Present at inspection, seventeen enlisted men. Absent, thirteen enlisted men. Percentage present, 56.67.

INSPECTION.

Improvement in this organization would result if the State should furnish it a complete equipment of instruments as is desired and deserved by it.

COMPANY "A," FREDERICK.

Captain, D. John Markey.

First Lieut., Harry J. Kefauver.

Second Lieut., Elmer F. Munshower.

Inspected 10th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, fifty-one.

Present at inspection, three officers and fifty-one enlisted men. Absent, none. Percentage present, 100.

INSPECTION.

The officers and men appear to be fairly well informed. The drill was good and the property seems well cared for in an orderly manner. Captain Markey seems unusually well informed and in correct touch with the details of company matters. This company has the permanent squad system and the good effect is already noticeable.

COMPANY "B," HAGERSTOWN.

Captain, John W. Little.

First Lieut., Vacant.

Second Lieut., W. H. H. Bixler.

Inspected 12th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, ten.

Present at inspection, one officer and one enlisted man. Absent, one officer and nine enlisted men. Percentage present, 16.67.

INSPECTION.

The property of this company seems in excellent condition and order.

COMPANY "C," CAMBRIDGE.Captain, J. Howard Hirst.First Lieut., Leon E. Tschantre.Second Lieut., Joseph M. Collins.

Inspected 20th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-six.

Present at inspection, three officers and thirty-one enlisted men. Absent, fifteen enlisted men. Percentage present, 69.39.

INSPECTION.

The relatively small attendance of this company at the inspection is explained by Captain Hirst as due to two things: (1st) the residence of some of the men away from town (two live at Bishop's Head 35 miles southerly) and the difficulties incident to travel over the country roads at this season; (2d) the date of the inspection is after that time of the year when many of the men have gone elsewhere for their summer's work.

The cleanliness of the armory and its lockers could be improved upon. The rifles and revolvers were dirty and apparently do not get the care needed for their proper protection and to keep them into good conditios at this locality with its adjacent salt water.

COMPANY "D," BELAIR.Captain, Robert H. Archer, Jr.First Lieut., Winfield B. Harward.Second Lieut., Alexander M. Fulford.

Inspected 14th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-eight.

Present at inspection, three officers and twenty-five enlisted men. Absent, twenty-three enlisted men. Percentage present, 54.90.

INSPECTION.

The men of this company seem willing but insufficiently instructed in details. The non-commissioned officers seem to need instruction and development. The officers should give their commands more clearly. The rifles of this company are in bad shape and need thorough cleaning.

COMPANY "E," ELKTON.Captain, Charles B. Finley, Jr.First Lieut., Daniel Bratton.Second Lieut., Vacant.

Inspected 18th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, fifty-two.

Present at inspection, two officers and forty-eight enlisted men. Absent, four enlisted men. Percentage present, 92.59.

INSPECTION.

The condition of the property of this company is excellent except as to the shoes. Some five or six men appear rather young and undersize and the company contains a rather large percentage of new men, and as a whole needs instruction.

The system of records carried on by Captain Finley is especially to be commended. The company has begun the permanent squad system with good results.

COMPANY "F," HYATTSVILLE.

Captain, Oswald A. Greager.

First Lieut., Ernest E. Kennard.

Second Lieut., Allan B. Duckett.

Inspected 25th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, fifty-eight.

Present at inspection, three officers and forty-nine enlisted men. Absent, nine enlisted men. Percentage present, 85.25.

INSPECTION.

The rifles are in inexcusably bad condition from lack of proper care. The shortage of the newly issued equipment in this company is regrettable. It is possible that the disadvantageous location of the men's lockers around the sides of the drill hall partly explains the difficulties in better keeping track of the property.

The officers of this company seem to lack confidence in themselves to some extent and the company is consequently not as steady and smart as desired. Both officers and men need instruction and drill.

COMPANY "G," CUMBERLAND.

Captain, Thomas R. Palmer.

First Lieut., Walter T. Crawford.

Second Lieut., Charles W. Stark.

Inspected 11th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-six.

Present at inspection, three officers and thirty-eight enlisted men. Absent, eight enlisted men. Percentage present, 83.68.

REPORT OF THE
INSPECTION.

The rifles need cleaning and better care, and the uniform needs cleaning. The officers and men seem insufficiently instructed. Apparently the officers are not giving the time and attention to the details that is demanded for proper results from the men.

COMPANY "H," WESTMINSTER.

Captain, John N. Weigle.

First Lieut., Vacant.

Second Lieut., Harry G. Berwager.

Inspected 13th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty-four.

Present at inspection, two officers and twenty-eight enlisted men. Absent, six enlisted men. Percentage present, 83.33.

INSPECTION.

The property of this company is in excellent condition and Captain Weigle is to be commended upon its condition and arrangement. The officers and men need instruction in some details.

COMPANY "I" SALISBURY.

Captain, Samuel R. Douglass.

First Lieut., Amos W. Woodcock.

Second Lieut., Vacant.

Inspected 19th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-three.

Present at inspection, one captain and Second Lieutenant Julian D. Carey, battalion quartermaster and commissary (assigned to duty with this company as per regimental orders) and twenty-six enlisted men. Percentage present, 60.87.

INSPECTION.

The condition of the property in this company is only fair and the shoes in bad condition. Captain Douglass seems uninformed and indifferent in matters of detail. Under Lieutenant Carey, attached, condition of affairs seems to have improved and Lieutenant Carey is to be commended for the progress he has made with the men and the improved condition into which he has placed the property during his period of duty with this company.

COMPANY "K," HAVRE DE GRACE.

Captain, Millard E. Tydings.

First Lieut., G. Howard Hergenrother.

Second Lieut., Vacant.

Inspected 17th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty-two.

Present at inspection, one officer and fourteen enlisted men.
Absent, one first lieutenant and eighteen enlisted men. Percentage present, 44.12.

INSPECTION.

The arms of this company are in poor condition, and need immediate attention. The armory was damp and not clean. The sergeant in charge, apparently most of the time, seems to be doing the best that he can with little help from the officers. The company needs attentive, interested and competent officers badly.

COMPANY "L," LAUREL.

Captain, Guy C. Wisotzki.

First Lieut., Charles H. Stanley, Jr.

Second Lieut., Wilbur O. Timanus.

Inspected 24th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, fifty-six.

Present at inspection, three officers and fifteen enlisted men.
Absent, forty-one enlisted men. Percentage present, 30.51.

INSPECTION.

The property of this company is in excellent condition, being newly issued, except the shoes. The rifles and revolvers need cleaning inside.

The non-commissioned officers and men seem uninformed and not enthusiastic. Considerable work upon this company by competent officers is needed to make it of much value to the State.

COMPANY "M," ANNAPOLIS.

Captain, Louis B. Myers.

First Lieut., Daniel J. Murphy.

Second Lieut., Vacant.

Inspected 21st March, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty-six

Present at inspection, two officers and twenty-seven enlisted men. Absent, nine enlisted men. Percentage present, 76.32.

INSPECTION.

The property of this company seems in good condition except the rifles which were very greasy and dirty, largely because of lack of arm rack covers.

The officers and men have snap and seem to be well informed and instructed.

FOURTH INFANTRY.

Colonel Harry C. Jones.

Headquarters—Baltimore.

Field, staff and non-commissioned staff inspected 31st March, 1913.

Strength, eighteen officers and nine enlisted men.

Present at inspection, eighteen officers and nine enlisted men.

Percentage present, 100.00.

INSPECTION.

The system in effect for the accounting of the property issued to the field, staff and non-commissioned staff of this regiment is not in accordance with regulations and apparently not a good one. The property is issued to the individuals by the quartermaster on memorandum receipts from the individual instead of through the adjutant. As a consequence, the adjutant's office has no record of this property issued and it should have. It is recommended that the system of issuing and accounting for property to the members of the field, staff and non-commissioned staff of this regiment, regularly prescribed, be put into effect at once.

The condition of the rifles of this regiment is bad and apparently inexcusably so. They do not appear to have been cleaned inside for a considerable period and immediate steps to protect them from corrosion or serious damage should be taken. As they are in the charge of the regimental ordnance officer, the fault cannot be ascribed to the company commanders, and the regimental commander should give his immediate attention to them.

COMPANY "A."

Captain, Vacant.

First Lieut., John R. Brohawn (Attached).

Second Lieut., Guy H. Stanton (Attached).

Inspected 4th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty-eight.

Present at inspection, two officers and thirty-seven enlisted men. Absent, one enlisted man. Percentage present, 97.50.

INSPECTION.

Condition of the uniform is fair and that of the rifles poor. Only two pairs of government shoes were worn at the inspection. The men seem intelligent and fairly well instructed.

COMPANY "B."

Captain, George F. Haupt.

First Lieut., Henry E. Lupus.

Second Lieut., S. C. Pennington.

Inspected 2d April, 1913. Total enlisted strength, forty-five.

Present at inspection, three officers and forty-four enlisted men. Absent, one enlisted man. Percentage present, 97.92.

INSPECTION.

The condition of the uniform of this company is fair; that of the rifles poor. The shoes do not seem to fit satisfactorily, although in this company they were unusually well cared for and oiled.

The officers of this company do not give their commands clearly enough to obtain the best results from the men.

COMPANY "C."

Captain, William H. Vickers.

First Lieut., John C. White (Detached).

Second Lieut., Edward J. Bond.

Second Lieut., Arthur Blackburn (Attached.)

Inspected 3d April, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-six.

Present at inspection, three officers and forty-two enlisted men. Absent, four enlisted men. Percentage present, 91.83.

INSPECTION.

The condition of the uniform is fair, though its fit seems poor.

The rifles were in poor condition and the shoes were in bad shape from lack of proper care.

The men apparently are not sufficiently informed or instructed and the officers commands were not clearly given.

COMPANY "D."

Captain, Merican K. Tavenner.

First Lieut., Vacant.

Second Lieut., Charles J. Linke.

Inspected 3d March, 1913. Enlisted strength, fifty-three.

Present at inspection, two officers and fifty-one enlisted men.

Absent, two enlisted men. Percentage present, 96.36.

INSPECTION.

The general appearance of this company was neither clean nor steady. The men were late in reporting and the discipline of the same seems poor.

Condition of the uniform was good except the shoes. The condition of the rifle's poor.

The company needs smartening up by competent officers, and the officers need to give their commands more clearly. The non-commissioned officers and men seem eager to learn and to obey.

COMPANY "E."

Captain, Vacant.

First Lieut., Walter J. Caple.

Second Lieut., Vacant.

Inspected 1st April, 1913. Total enlisted strength, forty.

Present at inspection, one officer and thirty-nine enlisted men.

Absent, one enlisted man. Percentage present, 97.56.

INSPECTION.

The condition of the uniform seems good except the shoes and rifles. The latter are in poor condition.

This company could be improved by increasing its smartness. Improvement on the part of the officers, for which there is room, would undoubtedly result in much improvement on the part of the men.

COMPANY "F."

Captain, Craft W. Voneiff.

First Lieut., Rutledge W. Radcliffe.

Second Lieut., Vacant.

Inspected 1st April, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty-seven.

Present at inspection, three officers and forty-six enlisted men.

Absent, none. Percentage present, 100.

INSPECTION.

The condition of the uniform is good; that of the rifles is poor.

This company seems capable of becoming an excellent one if the officers would do their part in informing themselves and instructing the men. At present the deficiencies of the company seem directly traceable to carelessness on the part of its officers.

REPORT OF THE COMPANY "I."

Captain, John R. Rittenhouse.
First Lieut., Roscoe L. Coffin.
Second Lieut., N. W. Wright.

Inspected 2d April, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-one.

Present at inspection, three officers and forty-one enlisted men.

Absent, none. Percentage present, 100.

INSPECTION.

The condition of the uniform is good; that of the rifles poor.

The appearance of this company was excellent, and, considering its size, it appears to be one of the best in the regiment.

COMPANY "K."

Captain, Charles E. Hummel.
First Lieut., Richard H. Stevenson.
Second Lieut., Benjamin C. Cooper.

Inspected 31st March, 1913. Enlisted strength, fifty-nine.

Present at inspection, three officers and fifty-eight enlisted men.

Absent, one enlisted man. Percentage present, 98.39.

INSPECTION.

Condition of the uniform is good; that of the rifles poor. The non-commissioned officers need some instruction, but Captain Hummel is to be commended for the condition into which he has brought this company.

COMPANY "L."

First Lieut., John C. White (Attached).
Second Lieut., H. Howard Williams.

Inspected 4th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty-six.

INSPECTION.

Condition of the uniform is fair except the shoes which are poor. Condition of the rifles is poor.

Second Lieut., H. M. Webb.

Inspected 7th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-three.

FIFTH INFANTRY.

Colonel, Louis M. Rawlins.

Headquarters, Baltimore.

Field, staff and non-commissioned staff inspected 8th April, 1913.

Present at inspection, eighteen officers and twelve enlisted men. Absent, one officer, Captain Bagley. Percentage present 96.77.

INSPECTION.

The equipment, property and records of these headquarters are in excellent condition. The regimental commander is to be complimented upon the condition in which the rifles of the regiment were found at the inspection.

COMPANY "A."

Captain, Thome S. Kirkwood.

First Lieut., Vacant.

Second Lieut., Vacant.

Inspected 10th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty-four.

Present at inspection, one officer and twenty-three enlisted men. Absent, eleven enlisted men. Percentage present, 68.57.

INSPECTION.

The condition of the uniform was fair, many didn't fit properly and this was also the case with the shoes. The latter also need attention and care.

The men of the company appear both physically and mentally able. Older men seem fairly well informed but all need instruction. The drill of the company was poor in all respects and reflects upon its officers who seem lacking both in knowledge and practice of their duties.

COMPANY "B."

Captain, Frank H. Haines.

First Lieut., Henry T. Daly.

Second Lieut., James W. Scott.

Inspected 11th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-four.

Present at inspection, three officers and forty-four enlisted men. Absent, none. Percentage present, 100.

INSPECTION.

Condition of the uniform was fair, some of the hats and caps were bad and some of the olive drab was moth-eaten.

The men need instruction in some details. The knowledge of the officers seem somewhat lacking. A great deal of improvement would undoubtedly result upon the display of more snap by the officers. The company has begun the permanent squad system.

COMPANY "C."

Captain, Elbert Thomson.

First Lieut., Stewart M. Conant.

Second Lieut., Vacant.

Inspected 9th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, fifty-six.

Present at inspection, two officers and fifty-three enlisted men. Absent, three enlisted men. Percentage present, 94.83.

INSPECTION.

Condition of the uniform was good. The appearance of this company was only fair; the formation was slow, five men were not in uniform.

The impression this company gave at the inspection was unsatisfactory but its defects appear due more to a lack of competent officers than to faults of the non-commissioned officers and men. The captain lacked the assistance of any lieutenant and was physically ill at the inspection which facts should be considered in this connection.

COMPANY "D."

Captain, Hugh Gelston.

First Lieut., C. K. Allen.

Second Lieut., J. Newman Numsen.

Inspected 9th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-two.

Present at inspection, one officer and twenty-eight enlisted men. Absent, two officers and twelve enlisted men. Percentage present, 68.18.

INSPECTION.

COMPANY "E."

Captain, Herbert A. Smith.

First Lieut., Arthur L. Amos.

Second Lieut., Vacant.

Inspected 15th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty.

Present at inspection, two officers and thirty enlisted men. Absent, none. Percentage present, 100.

INSPECTION.

This company appears good except as to its numbers. Its deficiencies at drill can be mainly attributed to the lack of clearness in the enunciation of commands by the officers, and the apparent lack of knowledge on the part of the latter relative to the signals and calls.

COMPANY "F."

Captain, Ralph Hutchins.

First Lieut., Lindsay W. Gardner.

Second Lieut., Harry W. Moore.

Inspected 10th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, fifty-two.

Present at inspection, three officers and fifty-two enlisted men.

Absent, none. Percentage present, 100.

INSPECTION.

Condition of the uniform was fair only; many do not fit properly, and others are moth-eaten. The shoes need attention badly.

At close order, the company made an excellent appearance and the officers seem fairly well informed on most matters. The defects of the extended order movements seem to come from the apparent lack of information on the part of the officers and non-commissioned officers.

COMPANY "G."

Captain, Frank A. Hancock.

First Lieut., Thomas G. McNicholas.

Second Lieut., John F. King.

Inspected 8th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty-six.

Present at inspection, three officers and thirty-five enlisted men.

Absent, one enlisted man. Percentage present, 97.44.

INSPECTION.

The general appearance of this company was good. The men looked clean and intelligent, although apparently not fully informed. Some men were new and one or two seemed rather small physically. The condition of the uniform was excellent; the belts of the company being delightfully clean.

The card system of accounting for the property of this company is to be commended.

Improvement in the drill of the company would result if the cautions of the non-commissioned officers were given more clearly and with more snap. The extended order drill would have been better done had the lieutenant commanding the men showed himself better informed.

COMPANY "H."

Captain, Ernest A. Robbins, Jr.

First Lieut., William L. Handy.

Second Lieut., Charles C. Stack.

Inspected 11th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-nine.

Present at inspection, three officers and forty-eight enlisted men.

Absent, one enlisted man. Percentage present, 98.08.

INSPECTION.

This Company made a good appearance; the men appearing fairly well instructed. The condition of the uniform was clean and good, except that slightly moth-eaten.

Improvement on the part of the Lieutenants and non-commissioned officers of this Company would unquestionably result in the further improvement of the Company itself.

Captain Robbins should be commended for the care and attention he has given to the shoes of this Company and their resulting excellent condition.

COMPANY "I."

Captain, Frank S. Whitman.

First Lieut., Thomas W. Brundige, Jr.

Second Lieut., C. Powell Noland.

Inspected 14th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, fifty-two.

Present at inspection, three officers and fifty-one enlisted men.

Absent, one enlisted man. Percentage present, 98.18.

INSPECTION.

Condition of the uniforms was good except that several were not well fitted. Eleven men appeared without Government shoes.

The appearance of the Company was good but the officers and non-commissioned officers appeared to need information on extended order movements.

COMPANY "K."

Captain, Edmund A. Munoz.

Inspected 8th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-two.

Present at inspection, three officers and forty-one enlisted men.

Absent, one enlisted man. Percentage present, 97.78.

REPORT OF THE

INSPECTION.

The condition of the uniform was fair. No Government shoes were worn; it being reported that those on hand do not fit properly.

The appearance of the Company was good; the men seemed intelligent and fairly well informed. The Lieutenants of this Company seem to need instruction and practice.

COMPANY "L."

Captain, William S. Brownley.

First Lieut., Arthur Thompson.

Second Lieut., Bernard B. Gough.

Inspected 14th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty-nine.

Present at inspection, three officers and thirty-nine enlisted men.
Absent, none. Percentage present, 100.

INSPECTION.

The general appearance of this Company was fair. The condition of the uniform was fair, although some do not fit properly and three men were without Government shoes at the inspection.

The officers and non-commissioned officers of the Company appear to lack the amount of knowledge necessary for the best results from the men.

COMPANY "M."

Captain, James G. Knight.

First Lieut., Charles M. Saxleby.

Second Lieut., Brooke B. Carter.

Inspected 15th April, 1913. Enlisted strength, forty-two.

Present at inspection, three officers and forty-one enlisted men.
Absent, one enlisted man. Percentage present, 97.78.

INSPECTION.

The condition of the uniform was good except that some do not fit properly and the belts need cleaning. The shoes need care. Four men were without Government shoes at the inspection.

The general appearance of the Company was good but improvement on the part of the Commanding Officer as to steadiness, military bearing and knowledge is to be desired.

SEPARATE ORGANIZATIONS.FIRST SEPARATE COMPANY, INFANTRY.

Captain, William R. Spencer.
First Lieut., Henry Ryan, Jr.
Second Lieut., Elmer Morsell.

Inspected 28th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, fifty-nine.

Present at inspection, three officers and fifty enlisted men. Absent, nine. Percentage present, 86.89.

INSPECTION.

The condition of the uniform is good. The condition of the arms was poor.

The appearance of the Company was good; it needs instructing but, considering the disadvantages it labors under as to quarters, its showing is creditable.

FIRST COMPANY, COAST ARTILLERY.

Captain, Sydney B. Austin.
First Lieut., Howell H. Thomas.
Second Lieut., Howard W. Jamison.

Inspected 26th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty-six.

Present at inspection, three officers and twenty-two enlisted men. Absent, fourteen enlisted men. Percentage present, 64.10.

INSPECTION.

The condition of the uniform was good; that of the arms good except for being somewhat dirty. The neatness of the Company rooms and storerooms could be improved upon.

This Company apparently carries considerable "dead wood" which should be removed. It could be smartened by the officers beginning with themselves.

FIELD HOSPITAL No. 1.

Captain, Howard E. Ashbury.
First Lieut., Henry W. Kennard.
First Lieut., H. Arthur Mitchell.
First Lieut., John C. Stansbury.

Inspected 27th March, 1913. Enlisted strength, thirty-two.

MARYLAND NATIONAL GUARD,
INSPECTOR GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT, BALTIMORE.

3rd February, 1912.

*The Adjutant General,
State of Maryland,
Annapolis, Maryland.*

SIR:

I have the honor to report that, in obedience to your indorsement of the 5th of December, 1911, I inspected the Naval Brigade on the 30th of January at 8.30 P. M.

The Brigade was paraded as a battalion of infantry of six companies or divisions. The present and absent of each separate unit of the organization with the percentage is shown in the following table:

DIVISION	PRESENT		ABSENT		Total Strength	Percent Present
	Officers	E. Men	Officers	E. Men
Staff.....	4	2	2	2	10	60.00
First Division.....	1	7	1	12	21	38.10
Second Division.....	1	17	1	6	25	72.00
Third Division.....	1	6	1	14	22	31.81
Fourth Division.....	1	22	0	8	31	74.19
Fifth Division.....	1	5	0	9	15	40.00
Sixth Division.....	1	24	1	24	50	50.00
Total.....	10	83	6	75	174	53.45

It is to be noted that the Brigade shows an increase in percentage of present and a decrease in the total strength. Since the last inspection, the Brigade shows a decrease of two officers and thirty-three enlisted men. The 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th Divisions as you will note from the above table, particularly the 1st, 3rd and 5th Divisions, are below the minimum strength required for such organizations by the State law. Steps should be taken to either cause these units to be recruited to at least the minimum strength or a consolidation should be effected and the number of divisions in the Brigade reduced accordingly. The Brigade, with a total enlisted strength of one hundred and fifty-eight, should not be sub-divided into more than four divisions.

BATTALION INSPECTION.

The formation of the battalion was promptly made and considerable improvement was shown over the last inspection, but officers' and men show need of further instruction to produce better results.

The general appearance of the Brigade was very good. The physique and set-up of the men very good. The medical officers are to be commended upon the care exercised in accepting recruits.

UNIFORMS.

The blue dress showed little signs of wear and has evidently been properly taken care of. Uniforms and equipment show careful attention as to the fit by Division Commanding Officers and they are to be commended.

CLOSE ORDER DRILL.

Close-order-drill showed improvement over last inspection, but movements were not executed with the precision and exact attention to drill regulations that are required. Officers show lack of definite knowledge that gives confidence when executing infantry drills. Attention of all division commanders called to the ceremony of inspection and particularly that part referring to the inspection of each sub-division.

DISCIPLINE.

The discipline of the organization, as far as could be judged from the assembly at the inspection, is good. The men were quiet and under excellent control.

ARTILLERY DRILL.

One section of artillery was formed from the 2nd, 3rd and 4th Divisions under the command of Lieut. Wroth. As in previous inspections, the officers and men showed more confidence and instruction in this drill than they did in infantry. The movements were done promptly and showed careful and proper instruction.

GUARD DUTY.

I am gratified to be able to report a great improvement throughout the entire command in this most important duty. Every man present was found to have been instructed in this duty and most of them were able to repeat their general orders and to answer intelligently questions on the duties of a sentinel.

EQUIPMENT.

Rifles are in good condition and were found filled with rust preventative and well looked after. Belts clean and properly fitted. Bayonets and scabbards in good condition.

The following comments are made upon the divisions:

FIRST DIVISION.

Ensign, Robert Phillips.

Carpenter, E. H. Smith.

Enlisted strength, 19. Present at inspection, 1 officer and 7 enlisted men. Absent, 1 officer and 12 enlisted men.

Your attention is directed to the return of strength of this division which does not give any of the data required to estimate the attendance at drills.

General appearance, fair. Men clean and neat, but unsteady.

Drill, poor. Manual, poor.

Guard Duty, men showed instruction in the duties of a sentinel. General order, fair.

Recommend that this division be consolidated with one of the other deck divisions. Ranking officer, ensign, could be assigned to duty with another division.

SECOND DIVISION.

Lieut., H. C. McElderry.

Ensign, E. St. Clair Clayton

(Resigned January 23rd, 1912)

Enlisted strength, 23. Present at inspection, 1 officer and 17 enlisted men. Absent, one ensign and six enlisted men.

Your attention is directed to remarks on return of strength showing the average attendance at drills for the past year to be seventeen enlisted men.

General appearance, fair. Men clean, but very unsteady.

Drill, poor. Manual, poor.

Guard Duty, good. General order, well memorized. Men well grounded in the duties of a sentinel.

THIRD DIVISION.

Lieut. (Junior Grade) H. Webster Smith.

Ensign, Frank H. Covington.

Enlisted strength, 20. Present at inspection, 1 officer and 6 enlisted men. Absent, one ensign, on leave, and 14 enlisted men.

Attention is directed to remarks on return of strength showing the average attendance at drills for the past year to be eight enlisted men.

Division is below the enlisted strength. Officers and men should be transferred to one of the other deck divisions.

General appearance, fair. Men clean, but unsteady.

Drill, poor. Manual, poor.

Guard duty, good. General order, men well grounded and instructed.

FOURTH DIVISION.

Lieut., John Wroth.

Enlisted strength, 30. Present at inspection, 1 officer and 22 enlisted men. Absent, 8 enlisted men, discharge applied for five of these.

Attention is directed to remarks on return of strength showing the average attendance at drills for the past year to be fifteen enlisted men.

General appearance, good. Men neat, clean and steady.

Manual, fair. Drill, fair.

Guard Duty, very good. General order, well memorized and men are well grounded and instructed.

This division made the best showing of the command. Men are better instructed in infantry work and more attention is paid to the proper execution of movements.

FIFTH DIVISION.

Lieut., John Aspril.

Enlisted strength, 14. Present at inspection, 1 officer and five enlisted men. Absent, 9 enlisted men, 3 on furlough.

Attention is directed to remarks on return of strength, showing the average attendance at drills to be ten enlisted men.

General appearance, good. Drill, poor.

Manual, poor. Guard Duty, poor. General order, little knowledge.

This division is stationed at Sparrow's Point and has a most inadequate armory and, as the enlisted strength shows, is in a very unhealthy condition. Unless arrangements can be made by which car-fare of these men to attend drills at the armory in Baltimore can be paid, this division should be mustered out of the service and the enlisted men discharged or transferred to one of the other divisions and the officers transferred to the staff of the Commanding Officer.

SIXTH DIVISION.

Lieut. and Chief Engineer, Frank Van Vleck.

Lieut. (Junior Grade), Allen Malone.

Enlisted strength, 48. Present at inspection, 1 officer and 24 enlisted men. Absent, 1 Lieut., (Junior Grade), and 24 enlisted men, 16 of these out of the State and one's discharge applied for.

Attention is directed to remarks on return of strength showing the live condition of this division.

General appearance, good.

Division was paraded as infantry, but all their work is in the engine room. Show slight knowledge of infantry work. Commanding Officer deserves credit for the interest men in this division have shown in rifle practice and the number who have reported at the range. Some slight instruction in guard duty.

REMARKS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

The general appearance of this organization and the physical ability and intelligence of the enlisted strength shows that the same high grade has been maintained since the last inspection.

The records of the organization, as submitted, show that the new enlistments during the past year amount to thirty-eight; re-enlistments, twenty-three, and the average attendance at drills for the entire organization to be sixty-five enlisted men.

With the large number of absentees, it is very hard for the officers to keep up any systematic instruction in infantry work and necessarily only a short period can be devoted to it on account of the many other duties in which the men are required to be instructed.

I repeat my recommendation of last year, namely, that a progressive system of instruction in infantry work be adopted and followed out.

The organization during the past year has made the greatest gain in instruction in guard duty and officers and men are to be commended for this work. I consider that the men present at the inspection are as capable of being called upon to perform guard duty as any other organization in the National Guard of this State.

I would respectfully recommend, as heretofore mentioned, that the 1st, 3rd and 5th Divisions be consolidated with the 2nd and 4th Divisions. This can be done without hardship, as the organization has as many vacancies in the officers personnel as it has in the enlisted. The number of absentees is again large and, as you will note, applications for a number of discharges are to be made, thus further reducing the enlisted personnel of the organization. I believe that more efficient work can be obtained by reducing the size of the organization and causing the divisions to be up to the legal limit. When two full deck divisions are enlisted, it will be easy to increase the organization by forming a new division.

The officers and men are to be congratulated upon for the increased interest shown in rifle practice and, I would respectfully recommend that this organization be supplied with the Springfield rifle in place of the Krag, thus producing similarity between the two arms of the service in this particular.

It is gratifying to be able to report that this organization during the past year shows a general improvement.

Very respectfully,

CHAS. D. GAITHER,
Col. Inspt. Genls. Dept.

Subject: Inspection of Naval Brigade, M. N. G.

1. In obedience to Special Orders No. 58 A. G. O., dated 18th September, 1913, an inspection of the Naval Brigade was made on the 16th and 17th inst.

2. A report of this inspection (on the form provided for inspections of infantry organizations) is attached in duplicate hereto.

3. Accompanying this report are rosters submitted at the inspection of the personnel.

4. The verification of the property was made under the supervision of the Inspector by Capt. John C. Marshall, Assistant to the Acting Quartermaster General, and the report of Capt. Marshall in the matter will be forwarded as promptly as possible.

5. In addition to, or explanation of, the remarks on the inspection forms, the following is submitted:

This Command, though small in numbers, appears to be composed of exceptionally alert, intelligent and clean looking men. The men and officers seem interested in their work and anxious for the best results. The men showed considerable snap, but appeared to be not quite sure of themselves, especially in the infantry movements and in the manual, probably due to brevity or lack of drills in such. There appears to be some "dead wood" in the Command and it should be cleaned out as promptly as possible. The effort should then be made to recruit the Command to its proper numbers. The Command is seriously handicapped by the lack of a proper and necessary vessel for its use and it is difficult to see how a satisfactory Command of this character can be expected to be had unless such a vessel as is needed can be secured. The mere recruiting of the Command to its desired numbers, to say nothing of the training and development, will be difficult, if not impossible, without such a vessel. The Command is to be particularly commended upon the neatness and orderliness of its quarters and storeroom.

W. W. CROSBY,

Acting Inspector General.

HEADQUARTERS NAVAL BRIGADE, M. N. G.

October 23, 1913.

From Commanding Officer, Naval Brigade, M. N. G.

To The Adjutant General.

Subject: Report of Commanding Officer, Naval Brigade, M. N. G., covering period from April 9th, 1912, to October 25th, 1913.

1. You are respectfully informed that immediately on receiving his probationary commission dated April 9th, 1912, the Commanding Officer of the Naval Brigade, M. N. G., made a careful survey of both the personnel and material. It was found that the personnel was badly disorganized. Serious dissensions existed between the officers, resulting in lack of cooperation and practical abandonment of drills and exercises at the Armory. The material was in even worse condition. The records in regard to clothes and property were incomplete, and both were liable to serious depreciation and actual loss. Attention was immediately directed to reorganizing the pay department, and upon the assumption of duty as Paymaster by Lieutenant F. A. Savage, a careful system of accounting for property was immediately inaugurated and put into operation, and has since been continued under Assistant Paymaster H. L. Bond.

The Ordnance Department was found in quarters much too cramped to permit of the proper keeping of the equipment, and with the consent of the Adjutant General, new quarters were found in the Armory for the Ordnance, and the old ordnance room was fitted up with lockers and closets for the use and accommodation of the Pay Department.

It was also found that the property belonging to the floating equipment at Fort McHenry was insecurely and inadequately stored, and the use of a new building was obtained from the Secretary of War, at Fort McHenry, into which the large quantity of valuable material belonging to floating equipment has been stored under a lock and key and properly safeguarded.

The Medical Department, then under the charge of Surgeon John A. Tompkins, Jr., was found to be well organized and managed, but inadequately supplied with storage facilities for the safe keeping of medical supplies. This has been remedied.

ORGANIZATION.

2. The Brigade was found to be organized as one battalion of six divisions instead of two battalions of three divisions each. Only five of the six divisions were organized, being the first, second and third, and the sixth or engineers' division.

The Brigade was reorganized according to law, the first, second and third divisions, designated as First Battalion, and the sixth division was called the First Division of Second Battalion. Since then the first division has been consolidated with the second and third divisions, so that at present the Brigade is organized as follows: First Battalion, Second and Third Divisions; Second Battalion, First Division. It thus appears that the First Division of the Second Battalion and the Second and Third Divisions of the First Battalion was unorganized.

It was further found that the muster contained the names of many men who had ceased to attend drills, because of lack of interest or removal, or other causes, and a systematic effort has been made to purge the lost of all such undesirables. At the present time the Brigade will muster not above seventy effective men, which, however, it is believed form the nucleus for the upbuilding of an effective organization.

DRILLS, EXERCISES AND CRUISES.

3. Drills have been held at the Armory regularly one night a week from 8:30 to 10 o'clock from about October 15th until some date in the late spring or early summer. Work at the Armory is devoted to instruction in infantry drill, manual of arms, exercises with a dummy boat, drill of gun crew with four inch rifle, work on the compass, signalling and other practical exercises.

During the winter of 1912-1913 an Officers School was conducted under the charge of Horace G. Macfarland, Lieutenant Commander, U. S. N. Retired, and the course covered was Theory and Practice of Navigation. The attendance of officers was good, and the results accomplished of great practical benefit.

A school for the systematic instruction of every enlisted man as well as the petty officers has been planned, and will be put in operation, beginning Thursday, October 23rd.

The rowing, pulling and sail boats furnished the Brigade by the United States Government, which are kept at the Naval Brigade Dock at Fort McHenry are ample for its purposes, and are designed for the use of the men during the summer months, when the work at the Armory ceases. Much practical difficulty, however, has been encountered in arranging a convenient time for the men to use this equipment. Better results are hoped for in the season of 1914.

The only vessel loaned by the United States Government to this organization at the present time is the U. S. Torpedo Boat "SOMERS." Great difficulty is experienced in keeping this boat in sufficient repair to enable her to be taken out, nevertheless, a number of week-end cruises have been had in her during the summer of 1912 and 1913, with great benefit to the men who participated in the same.

CRUISE ON BATTLE SHIPS.

4. In the summer of 1912 and again in the summer of 1913, the organization was invited to cruise by the United States Government on the battleship "IOWA" and "ALABAMA", respectively. Practically the whole effective organization participated in these cruises and great benefit was derived therefrom by both the officers and men.

SPARROW'S POINT DIVISION.

5. Upon assuming command the Commanding Officer found that the Sparrow's Point Division had been practically abandoned. Efforts were made to revive interest in the same, but all such efforts having failed of success, the Division was finally mustered out and all property which had been loaned to that Division was secured and brought back to headquarters in Baltimore.

PROSPECTS OF THE BRIGADE, WINTER 1913-1914.

6. This Brigade cannot be made a successful, efficient and creditable organization until it has been recruited up to approximately two hundred men.

Plans have been matured for entering upon a recruiting campaign at once, and energetic efforts will be made to recruit the organization up to at least two hundred men. Efforts in this direction, however, are seriously handicapped by the failure of the United States Government to loan a suitable ship for the uses of the Brigade. Strenuous efforts have been made to secure such a vessel, but so far have been attended with no success. Grave doubts are entertained as to whether or not this organization can be put on its feet until such a vessel is obtained.

CONDITIONS IN THE RANK.

7. The esprit de corps among the officers is excellent. The cooperation given the Commanding Officer is all that could be desired. Unless, however, the raw material can be secured it is doubted whether the spirit and interest of the officers can be successfully maintained.

RETIREMENTS, RESIGNATIONS, ET AL.

8. Since the connection of the present Commanding Officer with the Brigade there have been the following changes in Commissioned Officers:

Lieutenant Commander Charles J. Fallon, retired.

Lieutenant John Wroth, resigned.

Lieutenant-Surgeon John A. Tompkins, Jr., resigned.

The following officers have been elected:

Lieutenant F. A. Savage to command Third Division, First Batt.

Ensign H. Nelson Gambrill, Third Division, First Batt.

There have also been sundry promotions which have been duly reported to the Adjutant General's Office from time to time.

RIFLE PRACTICE AND WORK AT THE RANGE.

9. The old indoor Range at the Howard Street Armory has been fitted up for the use of the Brigade. A cup was offered by the Officers Association to be awarded to the Division making the best score. It was captured by the Third Division, First Battalion. Much interest has been displayed by the men, and resulted in a renewal of interest by men and officers in the work done on the State Range, where the Tyro cup was won by a team from the Brigade during the present season. Rifle practice will be pushed vigorously during season of 1913-1914.

OFFICERS ASSOCIATION.

10. An Officers Association is maintained with meetings once a month. At such meetings topics are discussed bearing upon the welfare and general interest of the Brigade.

Respectfully submitted,

RALPH ROBINSON.

REPORT OF THE
REPORT OF MAJOR JOHN DE P. DOUW, SUPERINTENDENT OF SAUNDERS RIFLE RANGE, 1913.

*To the Adjutant General,
State of Maryland,
Annapolis, Maryland.*

SIR:

I have the honor to submit my annual report of the work done at the State Rifle Range during the past year.

Since the close of the season of 1912, great improvements have been made to the Range and a great deal of work that should have been done in years past, has been accomplished. The range is in better shape and, while a great deal remains that should be done, the results of your liberality and far-sightedness are apparent to every man that attends target practice.

The following has been completed:

•Cutting out scrub trees.

Mowing and cleaning field.

Removal of stumps from field in front of firing line.

Raising the Skirmish Run between 200 and 300 yards so that same is dry and no longer marshy ground.

New Pistol butt and pit, which greatly increases safety of Range.

New Tank which affords an ample supply of water.

Raising, curbing and sodding of entire firing line. This improvement has done more for comfort of the men than anything else possible.

New scorers benches, which have facilitated the work of range.

At the present time, there is an open contract for building a small store-house to store the tentage and other supplies required to be kept on hand for troops while in camp and for a walk from the station to the Range. Also provision has been made for making the pits safer and for the increasing of the number of targets.

Prof. Schmidt of the Agricultural College, is following your request, preparing instruction as to the best means for the improvement of the land at the range so it can be made more presentable.

As it is impossible for your department to stand the expense of very extensive improvements. I suggest that an effort be made to get the Legislature to appropriate a sufficient sum to properly equip the range with a permanent telephone system and a building large enough to contain lockers, gun room, dressing room and a mess hall. The telephone system is absolutely necessary for the work of firing, and the present system is but a cheap and temporary one.

As every effort is being made by both the National Government and the State to get men to the Range in order that they may learn that most necessary part of the soldier's profession; how to shoot; the State should make provisions for proper dressing rooms and for some place for the range force to stay during bad weather.

PRACTICE SEASON.

The range opened on the 1st day of May and, with the exception of July 4th, and the period of the State Encampment, was open every week day until October 1st.

The students of St. John's College had the privileges of the range for six days and fired the course required of them by the Government.

Notwithstanding the fact that there were two companies of troops less to draw from, caused by the mustering out of Companies B and K of the First Regiment, more men were qualified this year than last.

The fact that a great deal of time was required for the officer's schools and the encampment, no doubt, prevented still better results.

For the first time in some years, the Fourth and Fifth Regiments were ordered to the Range by battalions. I would recommend that this be not done again, for the reason that there are too many men present to give proper instruction to the weak shots. The number of instructors at the range is small and it is impossible to get around to all the men that need instruction under this method.

A great many company officers are so in need of instruction themselves and show such little interest that the majority of them are useless for instruction purposes.

Owing to the encampment and the practice of the National Match Team, it was found best to have the State Matches in September and it was rather late in the year to get as large an attendance and entry list as is desirable. I would recommend that the matches be held in July or August.

I am sorry to report that, owing to disobedience of orders on the part of two men of the First Regiment Rifle Team, it was necessary to throw out some of the record shots made by these two men. This resulted in causing the First Regiment to lose the Maryland State Match.

The circumstances in detail, were as follows:

Privates McGowan and Grahe were shooting the surprise fire stage of the match when my attention was called to the fact that they were without leggings as required as a part of the uniform.

They had fired seven shots. I stopped them firing and called the team captains of all three regiments together. I stated to them that there was a violation of the rules and that if the captains of the Fourth and Fifth Regiments protested, I would be compelled to throw out as much of the score as had been shot.

I asked both Major Jenkins, Team Captain of the Fifth Regiment team and Lieut. Lupus, Team Captain of the Fourth Regiment team if they wished to protest. They both answered in the affirmative and there was nothing left for me to do. I deplore the circumstances, as I like to see a match won on its merits and not on technicality.

The shooting in the other matches of State and the Maryland State Rifle Association showed marked improvement over former years. In the Distinguished Experts' Match, the hardest and best test for a rifleman that we have, five men got through.

This is the first time that more than two finished.

More interest was shown in these matches among the men not experts than heretofore and the matches for marksmen and lower were well filled.

As I recommended in my report as Team Captain, I believe that we can arouse more real spirit among the members of the Guard if we make the State Matches more important in the future and not expend as much money in the development of a few team shots.

As it will be necessary to adopt the new course for rifle practice next season, I recommend that more time be given to the companies for practice by reducing the number of companies ordered to the range at one time. I would suggest that two companies be ordered for not less than three days and if possible for four days. If four days are given it will be possible to devote some time to drilling under the regular army instructor-sergeants, which will do the men a great deal of good.

The little time that we had to spare during the last season was utilized in this manner and every one speaks well of the results.

The health of the men attached to the Range was excellent and there was no serious sickness among any of the visiting troops.

No accidents occurred.

I desire to express my appreciation of the conscientious manner in which all the employees performed their duties and I wish to especially mention Lieut. John C. Stansbury of the Medical Corps, who was of great assistance to me while troops were on duty and during the State Matches, and Sergts. Dogge, Givan and Kotwall for their energetic help.

Attached hereto, is a tabulated report of the results of the National Match Team, the State Matches and the qualifications of the officers and men in rifle and revolver practice.

As you will see by the same, the Fourth Regiment again shows a lack of interest and something should be done to increase the rifle practice work therein.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN de P. DUOW,

*Major, Quartermaster's Corps, M. N. G.
Superintendent.*

REPORT OF NATIONAL MATCH RIFLE TEAM, 1913.

*The Adjutant General,
State of Maryland,
Annapolis, Maryland.*

SIR:

I have the honor to make the following report on the works of the Maryland State Rifle Team for 1913.

On July 24th. practice for the Rifle Team that was to take part in the National Matches at Camp Perry was started.

Notwithstanding the facts that you had announced in General Orders that all members of the Guard were eligible to try for the Team and that I sent out thirty letters requesting men who I thought had a good chance, but sixteen men reported.

I inaugurated a light system of training and the men, although many of them were absolutely green, showed steady improvement each day.

By the 13th of August I had great hopes of making a good showing, although there were several very weak spots in the team.

Leaving on the above date for Camp Perry, the men arrived there on the 14th in good physical condition.

Owing to your liberality, we were able to enter the men in more matches of the National Rifle Association and the whole team had good practice.

A team of six enlisted men shot in the Enlisted Men's Team Match, and, as you will see by below scores, they made a very creditable showing, finishing fourth ahead of many of the best men in the Country.

	600 Yds.	1000 Yds.	Total
Ellett.....	45	48	93
Blades.....	50	43	93
Search.....	47	47	94
Garner.....	48	47	95
Gemmill.....	47	46	93
McGowan.....	45	46	91

In the individual matches many of our men finished well up on the prize list and the outlook for the National Match was encouraging, although I fully realized that the majority of these men were inexperienced.

At the opening of the National Match, (the surprise fire stage) the team did very well, but after that they lost places steadily and finished in twenty-seventh place.

The skirmish run was a very poor one and although the windage given the team was not as perfect as it might have been and for which I am responsible, the plots of the run showed a tendency to wobble that was to be expected from men that were not used to match conditions.

The scores made were as follows:

	Surprise	600	1000	Skir-
	Fire.	Yds.	Yds.	mish.
Duce.....	42	48	41	73
Hubbard.....	45	48	39	66
Munshower.....	42	46	40	82
Curry.....	43	45	46	67
Ellett.....	44	47	44	76
Blades.....	42	42	43	71
Garner	48	44	44	75
Sands.....	39	45	39	72

Gemmill.....	39	48	44	62
McGowan.....	40	48	47	63
Total.....	511	552	516	857

In looking over the situation from the experience that I have had as a member of the team for six years and as team Captain for the past two, I have come to the conclusion that sending teams away to the National Match is an expense that the State can well save, as the benefits derived are slight.

I believe that in the past a great good has been done by the National Match, as it has thrown the National Guard and the Army closer together and both have benefited thereby, but I think that the necessity of this has been passed.

In order for a team to successfully compete with other States it is necessary to give so much time for practice that but few men of the Guard can take part and the result is that a great many men are losing their interest in rifle practice.

The surprise fire stage of the National Match required young men, as the shock of falling to the ground was great. This one stage alone required a great deal of training.

The people of this State at large, take no interest in a match unless the team wins and no matter what place this team takes among other States, it does the Guard no good. The public want a winner. Owing to the fact that the Guard of this State is small and without a great deal of money, it is utterly impossible for it to compete successfully with the teams of the regular service and larger and more wealthy States.

I would therefore recommend that the practice of sending teams to the National Match be discontinued and that the money saved thereby be used to make our own State matches more important and for holding inter-state matches with States close at hand.

I think this will do more to interest the members of the Guard at large and tend to make better shots of more men instead of expending money to specialize a few.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN de P. DUOW,
Major and Team Captain.

BALTIMORE, SEPTEMBER 30, 1913.

From: J. Harry Ullrich, Major Medical Corps, M. N. G.
To The Adjutant General, State of Maryland, Annapolis.

Subject: Report, The Association of Military Surgeons of the United States, at Denver, Colorado, September 16th to 19th.

By direction of the Chief Surgeon, Medical Corps, M. N. G., the following report is submitted.

The Maryland Delegation, composed of Major Robert P. Bay, Major J. Harry Ullrich and Captain H. A. Mitchell, all of Medical Corps, M. N. G., arrived in Denver, September 16th at 7.30 A. M. and registered at the Brown Palace Hotel, Headquarters of the Association.

This was the 22nd annual meeting of the Association, and was well attended by all the states in the union, with few exceptions; Illinois and Pennsylvania each sent five delegates. Just before the Association went into the executive session, Surgeon W. E. Braisted, U. S. N., President of the Association, ordered a roll call, one member of each state present was designated as a member of the nominating committee. Major Robert P. Bay represented Maryland. Major J. Harry Ullrich was designated to look after the Association interest in Maryland.

The nominations resulted in the advancement of Brigadier General Charles Adams, of Ill., to president for the ensuing year; Col. Samuel C. Staunton of the same state, secretary; and Major Herbert A. Arnold, of Penn., treasurer. Attention is invited, that the officers of the Association for 1914 are National Guard Officers. This is the first time since its incorporation by the United States Congress, and on account of same, it ought to be a very active and successful year.

We had an opportunity to inspect and try out the state range. Its location was ideal, in so far as the natural contour of the country was concerned; but the arrangements of the range were of such a disposition, that all ranges could not be used at the same time. By comparison it made us feel very proud of Saunders Range.

A subject of particular interest was developed relative to cooks, which appealed to us very forcibly. It was advanced that men for cooks be selected very carefully, that some sort of a contract be entered into with them, whereby they could be sent to the Government Schools for instructions as cooks and bakers; and in return for said services they to respond to the call of the Government when needed. It is conceded beyond all shadow of doubt, that the various stomach and intestinal troubles incident to a soldier's life, are due to the faulty preparation of food. This rendering the soldier useless by reason of such common complaints as Gastritis, Colic, Diarrhoea, Hemorrhoids. Again the coloric value of food, whether it be fats, carbohydrates or proteids are frequently destroyed by the careless cook, and that the soldier is improperly nourished, notwithstanding the fact that the character and kind of army ration is more than ample, to supply the food needs of the individual soldier.

Another important subject under discussion was the mental hygiene of the soldier. Advancing the idea that something must be done to improve the soldier's fitness for a livelihood other than that of a professional soldier. If this could be accomplished, it was thought that a better element could be induced to take up a military training. The officer is trained to follow not only the life of a professional soldier, but has his place as a professional man to some degree outside the service. The enlisted man after once learning what is expected of him as a soldier, little is left for him to accomplish outside of advancement by way of promotion. Where, on the other hand, if taught some trade or schooled along some educational line, the individual value of the man would not only be enhanced as a soldier, but as a citizen. Along these lines enlistments were considered. It was advanced that a provisional enlistment had its merits, in that the soldier be given an opportunity after the first year, that, if army or navy life was not to his calling, or if he was not an apt soldier or sailor, that he be granted his release. This would reduce the number of desertions, weed out the undesirable, encourage the doubtful to enlist, and as a result would increase the number of trained military men in the country, which would be available in the time of need.

Attention is invited, as to what will be the interpretation of the pay bill as applied to pay for Commanding Officers of Field Hospitals, which may at present be construed to be 5% of the regular pay, this is 10% less than junior officers in the same command. The Association has gone on record to bring the matter to the attention of the Commission for adjustment. It is recommended by the Maryland Delegation that the National Guard Association take similar action, and that the regimental surgeon be included in the 15% class, provided he has an organized Regimental Infirmary.

The "Dick Bill" contains an interesting clause, as applicable to amount of funds and equipment, allotted for sanitary troops. The allotment only to be made on the basis of brigade units. The Association went on record as opposed to such legislation, as all troops need medical equipment as per strength.

It was suggested that Field Hospital and Ambulance trains provide themselves with suitable skids to load and unload wagons on or off railroad cars, also suitable runners to bridge spaces between cars, thus permitting all wagons to be loaded or unloaded at the end of train. In this connection, it was advised that suitable chucks or blocks, be carried as part of the equipment so that wagons can be securely fastened to cars.

The Maryland Delegation was very much interested in the report of one of the Field Hospital Commanders, who uses a large Fireless Cooker, for the preparation of food while on the march. This appliance was large enough to accommodate sixty men. The food is placed in same before the march, or in time preparatory to the next meal, so that when the command gets at the place of bivouac food is ready to be served. Another surgeon recommended that a small trachiotomy instrument be added to our emergency equipment, and a saline infusion apparatus. It was pointed out beyond all dispute that these two articles would be the means of saving many a life while going into action. It was also reported that not a few states had a camp of instructions separate for sanitary troops. It was strongly urged that sanitary troops be given the privilege of having their men take part in all maneuver exercises with other troops. Some States sent their Medical Officers to the Field and Line Officers camp of instructions; while other states sent their Medical Officers to the special camp of instructions for sanitary troops.

Anti-Typhoid fever inoculation as prescribed by the War Department and carried into effect at Boston, Mass., by an order from the Adjutant General of Mass. and which was followed by a death, said to be caused by anti-typhoid injection, and so published in one of the Boston papers, as well as other papers throughout the union. A delegate from Mass. reports that he was an assistant to the Medical Examiner of the state, and that they got an autopsy on the deceased, and found that death resulted from endocarditis and pneumonia, and not anti-typhoid vaccination, as published in one of the Boston papers at the time. The Association went on record to publish a full report of the case in the Military Surgeon, and through the public press. This case is cited in this report to show Medical Officers who administer Anti-Typhoid vaccination, the necessity of keeping full records of their cases, and in the event of an alleged death or typhoid following the vaccination, that a rigid investigation be instituted as in Boston, Mass. The Association strongly endorses typhoid prophylaxis by inoculation.

The chief surgeon advises that it is his intention to call the Medical Officers together for a conference at the very first available opportunity, relative to the subject matter.

J. HARRY ULLRICH.

REPORT OF THE
MARYLAND NATIONAL GUARD,
HEADQUARTERS FIRST BRIGADE.

BALTIMORE, January 2, 1914.

From the Commanding General, First Brigade, M. N. G.
To The Adjutant General, State of Maryland.

Subject:—Report of Tour of Duty, December 30 and 31st, 1913, Chestertown, Maryland.

1. In obedience to Special Orders, No. 81, A. G. O., series of 1913, the Third Battalion of the Fifth Infantry was designated to proceed to Chestertown, Maryland, for duty as ordered in said special orders

2. The notification of the necessity for the assembling of this battalion was received from you at 5.30 p. m. on December 30th, 1913. The members of the different companies of the Third Battalion, composed of Companies "E," "G," "K" and "M," commanded by Major David W. Jenkins, were directed to assemble at the earliest moment in field service uniform, in heavy marching order with overcoat, equipped for the field. The officers reported promptly, although the hour of notification was the most unfortunate for a rapid assembly, as both officers and men were on their way home from their places of business for dinner and therefore were harder to locate than at any other hour.

3. I reported to you at the Fifth Regiment Armory as directed, and the necessary transportation arrangements were discussed and acted upon by us. After finding it was impossible to secure a steamer from Baltimore capable of transporting any portion of the troops of this Battalion to Chestertown, the Pennsylvania Railroad was notified at 6.20 that a special train was desired and information requested as to the lapse of time before the same would reach Chestertown. The same delay was occasioned in getting the proper officials of the Pennsylvania Railroad that was experienced in finding the officers and men of the companies, as stated above. About seven o'clock, we secured the necessary information from Mr. P. W. Cobb that a train could be supplied at 8.00 p. m., and a running schedule of two hours and forty-five minutes could be obtained. We therefore decided after your talk with the Governor, that as the State Steamer, Governor McLane, was in the harbor at Annapolis, it would be advisable to divide the battalion and send one company by the McLane and the other three companies by train. Arrangements were made with the W. B. & A. R. R. for a special car to take the company to Annapolis. At 8 p. m., the Pennsylvania Railroad notified me that the train was ready to proceed when desired. The fact that the Fifth Regiment was holding their annual Christmas entertainment and drill on this evening acted as a detriment to a more prompt and orderly assemblage. The necessary wagon transportation for the transporting of the baggage and commissary equipment was secured and loaded, also that of the hospital corps detachment at 8 p. m.

4. At 8.25 p. m., Company "K," under Captain E. A. Munoz, was directed to proceed to Chestertown, via Annapolis and the Steamer McLane. This company left the Armory with two officers and thirty-four enlisted men at that hour. Major E. A. Robbins, Jr., Brigade Adjutant, was sent with this detachment by me with instructions to accompany the detachment and upon arrival at Chestertown to report this company to the Chief Judge of that Circuit for duty, if the balance of the battalion had not arrived before.

5. The selection of the train for the transporting the larger body of troops was most advantageous, in my opinion, as from my knowledge of the Chester River, I was convinced that it was impossible to reach Chestertown from either Annapolis or Baltimore by boat under five hours. Company "K" arrived at Chestertown at 3.15 a. m., December 31, 1913.

6. At 8.35 p. m. Major Jenkins was directed to assemble the other companies and proceed to Union Station and entrain at once. The companies arrived at the station at 8.55 p. m., accompanied by their wagons. Stores were promptly loaded and at nine o'clock the special pulled out of the station. I accompanied this detachment with my aide, Lieut. W. B. Cockey.

7. In order that the coming of the troops should be occasioned with the least possible excitement, every effort was made to prevent the information reaching Chestertown as to our coming or the routes by which we were to arrive. To this end the railroad authorities lent all their energies, and it was partly successful in that the information did not reach Chestertown until about an hour before the arrival of the special. At that time most of the people had retired, with the confident belief that the trial of the accused was to take place at 10 a. m. on December 31st, and as that was their desire, they were satisfied to let matters rest. I directed Major Jenkins to have all the curtains of the cars kept down and all unnecessary noises in passing stations suppressed.

8. We made a very quick run from Baltimore to Newark; fifty-eight miles in sixty minutes, and from there to Massey, the junction point on the N. Y. & P., our run was uneventful and rapid. During the movement ten rounds of guard ammunition was issued to each enlisted man and the soldiers were cautioned as to the gravity of their mission and to the necessity for soldierly bearing and obedience to orders and to refrain from discussions of any kind with civilians. From Massey to Chestertown, the railroad company had made arrangements for a pilot to ride over each section allotted to them on the engine so that if any effort was made to derail the train the same could be detected and avoided.

9. We arrived at Chestertown at 12.15 a. m., December 31st, 1913, making the run from Baltimore in three hours and nine minutes. The battalion detrained and was marched to the jail. State's Attorney, Mr. H. W. Vickers, met me at the depot and told me that Judge Constable and his associates would be found at the hotel. I directed Major Jenkins to leave a guard of one squad from each company around the train, the guard to be instructed to keep any unauthorized persons from approaching the same. We arrived at the jail without molestation at 12.25 a. m., and I had Company "G," under Captain Hancock, detailed to take charge of the same and place guard at all necessary points and permit no one to enter the same unauthorized until further orders. I then proceeded to the Voshell House and reported the arrival of the troops to Judges Constable, Hopper and Adkins. These gentlemen assured me of their pleasure in finding that we had so promptly responded and that they felt that the presence of the troops would be of great assistance to them in upholding the orderly process of law in that circuit at this time. As you are aware from the meager information received by us prior to my leaving Baltimore, the leaving of the troops was very hazy and the length of our stay problematic. The Court requested me to take complete charge of the jail, relieving the sheriff and the Baltimore officers from further responsibility of guarding the prisoners from injury and attack. I, of course, accepted the responsibility. The Court then informed me that they would give me further instructions in the morning. I returned to the jail and as there was considerable loose talk of problematical visits by squads of citizens during the night who would be infuriated and enraged at the arrival of the troops, I ordered Major Jenkins to detail three squads from Company "M" to report to Captain Hancock for duty and that the balance of his detachment should return to the train and await orders. I directed Captain Hancock to quarter his men in the house of the jailer, which is a part of the jail, and to keep on guard only such number of men as in his judgment was necessary to protect the vital points of entrances to the building. Believing that the success of our mission would be best subserved by not permitting the people to know how many troops were on hand until we actually needed them, I had the train moved from the station to the "Y" which is about a half mile from the center of the town and well on the outskirts, in the part of the town that is not greatly traveled by the citizens of the county entering the town, and we retained the train for quarters and the engine was kept to the train, which made the cars warm and comfortable for the men to sleep in. The train was moved at 1.30 a. m. to its new position. Orders were given to the battalion commander not to permit any officer or man to leave the cars and a sufficient guard was maintained around it to prevent any visitors or sight-seers from approaching the same.

10. I had reported my arrival to you and the Governor immediately after my conference with the Judges, and upon your information that the McLane would arrive at Chestertown about two o'clock, I proceeded to the wharf to wait the arrival of Company "K." The boat arrived at 3.15 A. M. and I directed Captain Munoz to keep his company on board until morning and report to the Battalion Commander at the train before daylight.

11. The emergency ration not being palatable, I directed the Commissary, Lieutenant Conant, to make arrangements for furnishing coffee, meat and bread to the men for breakfast. Stoves were gotten out and placed in proper position and breakfast was served to the troops at 7.30 A. M. I directed Major Jenkins to relieve Company "G" with Company "K" as soon as they had finished breakfast, to enable Company "G" to obtain the same, and this exchange was made very promptly, about 8.15 A. M. At that hour, I had a further conference with Judge Constable and was informed by him that the case would be removed and that the Court desired that the prisoners be taken to Baltimore City immediately after the removal was announced. The hour set for the assembling of the Court was at 10.00 and the first idea was to have the prisoners brought in the courtroom, but after a further talk with Judge Constable, he informed me that the attorney for the defense had applied for removal to another jurisdiction, to which they were entitled under the law, and that the Court would grant this motion at 11 A. M., and that the prisoners would then be turned over to me with a request from the Court to take them to Baltimore City and deliver them to the jail there to be kept until the date set for their trial.

12. I directed Major Jenkins to have Companies "G," "M" and "E" marched from the train to report to the jail at 10.45 A. M., and further directed him to notify Captain Hancock, Company "G," that his company would report in heavy marching order to accompany the prisoners to Baltimore by the Steamer Governor McLane. Captain Turner, of the McLane, was ordered to have steam up ready to leave the dock at 11 A. M. The battalion arrived promptly at the hour named and their appearance and the method by which they were handled had a salutary effect upon the crowd. The street in front of the jail had been cleared and I directed Major Jenkins to form a square, the leading company to be Company "G" in line, the sides of the square to be formed by Companies "E" and "M" in column of squads, with Company "K" to close the square in the rear. At 11.02 I was notified by State's Attorney Vickers that the Court had granted the removal of the case and that the prisoners were in my hands to be taken out of town as I desired.

13. Company "K," less the detail that was keeping the crowd at its original distance from the jail, were drawn up in front of the gate, thus keeping from the view of the crowd the door of the jail from which I intended to remove the prisoners. Captain Hagan, of the Baltimore Police Force, had been previously directed by me to take his force and handcuff the prisoners and bring them out of the jail when notified by me. At 11.05 the prisoners were brought out, Company "K" following in the rear; Company "M" on the flank, and before the spectators were aware of what was going on the square had been formed with the prisoners in the center, surrounded by the Baltimore City detectives and my staff. The command to move was given and the square moved to the dock. The withdrawal of the sentries was executed by the corporal of the guard and they joined as we passed the gate of the courtyard. At 11.15 the wharf was reached, the square was halted, Company "K" being thrown in line of skirmishers across the street, the crowd being held about 100 yards from the dock, and the march was continued by the balance of the column and the prisoners safely placed upon the McLane. A wait of ten minutes was made here to permit the Commissary to furnish a dinner to Company "G," and the wagons under a guard with the cooked meal, fresh from the fire, arrived at the hour previously given to Lieutenant Conant; namely, 11.30. The steamer then pulled out for Baltimore and I directed Major Robbins to notify you that our mission had been accomplished, the accused removed and the McLane had left for Baltimore at 11.30 and would arrive between 3.30 and 4 P. M. I also caused the Chief of Police, Marshal Farnan, to be notified of the hour of arrival at the dock in which the steamer would land and requested him to have the necessary force and to take charge of the prisoners.

14. I sent the balance of the command back to the train and reported to the Court that their wishes and requests had been complied with and asked if they had any further use for the battalion. Upon their negative reply, I notified the railroad agent that we would be prepared to leave for Baltimore at 1 P. M. I then directed Major Jenkins to give his men dinner, and to allow no one leave, and to be prepared to move at that hour, as I felt it was proper for the command to return to Baltimore at the earliest possible moment. The train left at 1.15 P. M., and after an uneventful run, reached Baltimore at 5.10 P. M. It was promptly detrained and marched to the armory for dismissal. The Governor McLane arrived at the city wharf about 3.45 P. M., and was met by a detail of police, and the prisoners were turned over at that time and place by Captain Hancock to the police of Baltimore City.

15. The battalion reported the following strength:

	Officers and Enlisted Men.
Battalion Headquarters.....	4	2
Company "E".....	3	59
Company "G".....	3	35
Company "K".....	2	43
Company "M".....	3	44

Detachment from the Field Hospital, seven enlisted men, making a total of 15 officers and 190 enlisted men. It is probably that fifty of these men were volunteers from other companies.

16. I cannot commend too highly the excellent behavior and morale of this battalion. The men were soldierly, quiet and dignified, and performed the duties required of them promptly and intelligently, while all the officers performed their duties promptly and efficiently. I desire to especially commend for efficiency on this tour of duty, Captain Frank A. Hancock, Company "G," and Lieutenant S. M. Conant, Acting Battalion Commissary.

17. The method of handling the train by the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was excellent and I am under many obligations to Mr. P. W. Cobb, District Passenger Agent, who accompanied us and gave his every energy to make the movement a success. The comfort of the men was greatly enhanced by your thoughtful action in furnishing for each man a heavy pair of gloves that were obtained after the order for the troops was issued.

18. From my experience of this duty, I recommend that should any of the organizations of this Brigade be required for a like service, that no volunteers from other companies be permitted. Should the organizations called upon not have a sufficient number of men to give them the required strength, additional units to be taken as units. For efficient service of this character, it is necessary that the commanding officers of companies should know thoroughly their enlisted personnel and the Commanding Officer of the organization should be fully acquainted with the peculiarities and temperament of his officers to obtain the best results.

CHARLES D. GAITHER,
Brigadier General.

The following extract from the Small-Arms Firing Manual now undergoing revision prescribes the courses in rifle and pistol firing adopted

BY ORDER OF THE GOVERNOR:

The Adjutant General.

Official:

(PART V.)

COURSES FOR ORGANIZED MILITIA.

The following courses in Small-Arms Firing are prescribed for the Organized Militia:

General Scheme.

Par. 317. The general scheme of instruction for the Organized Militia embraces: First, a certain amount of instruction in the preliminary drills and exercises, followed by gallery practice, with a prescribed test before the soldier can be advanced to practice on the target range; second, a definite course of instruction practice, under which, by selected scores of five shots each, a soldier must attain a certain proficiency before he can be advanced to fire the record practice, Organized Militia, or the Qualification Course, Regular Army; third, a definite test, either the Qualification Course, Organized Militia, or the Qualification Course, Regular Army, at the discretion of the State authorities, under which the soldier attains a certain grade in marksmanship; fourth, Long Range Practice.

Preliminary Drills and Instruction.

Par. 318. (a) The periods for indoor instruction will be determined by the State authorities and may extend into or include the entire range practice season:

(b) The essentials of indoor instruction will include:

Nomenclature, covering the most important parts and elements.
Manipulation and use of the various working parts.

Care of the arm.

Gallery practice.

Sighting, aiming, positions, and trigger squeeze.

The course to be followed in indoor instruction is laid down in Part II Chapters 1, 2, 3, 4, but in the discretion of the State authorities, any course embracing the elements given above may be adopted and followed. The recording rifle rod outfit or any other suitable device may be used in such a course.

Gallery Practice.

Par. 319. The principal objects of gallery practice are to continue in a different manner, the instruction in aiming, positions, and trigger squeeze, and to determine, in certain cases, whether or not the individual shall be advanced to range practice.

(a) The following course in gallery practice is prescribed:

TABLE 1.

Range (Feet)	Targets.	Position	Minimum Number of Shots.
50	The iron gallery target issued by the Ordnance Department or one similar thereto, or paper targets	Prone	10
50		(Sitting	10 (5 sitting,
		(Kneeling	5 kneeling,
50		Standing	10

Where it is impracticable to use ranges of fifty feet, gallery practice may be conducted at a greater distance at a target whose dimensions and divisions have been proportionately increased. Firing will be by scores of five consecutive shots. Except in case of accident, a score once begun will be completed.

(b) QUALIFICATION IN GALLERY PRACTICE.

No officer or enlisted man who has failed to qualify as first-class or better in a previous season shall be advanced to range practice until he has attained at least 90 points out of a possible 150 in the gallery practice course, by selecting his two best scores of five shots at each range. If a gallery range be not available, the recording rifle rod outfit or sub-target gun machine may be used to determine eligibility for range practice, under similar conditions, when specially authorized by the State authorities,

KNOWN DISTANCE FIRING.

Par. 320. The Qualification Course is divided into Instruction Practice and Record Practice.

(a) Instruction Practice embraces:

1. A prescribed course in which a certain proficiency must be attained in certain cases, before qualification practice is undertaken; this course may be shot through as many times as is necessary to insure proper instruction.

2. Such further preliminary practice at any range as is considered necessary to prepare the individual for the Record Practice.

3. Firing for recruits may be held at 100 yards in any position except standing, but does not count in determining proficiency in the Instruction Practice.

(b) The Instruction Practice and the number of shots at each range upon which eligibility to advance to Qualification Practice is determined are given in the following table:

1. Each shot is marked in slow fire on Target "D." Rapid fire is conducted as prescribed in paragraph 112, except as to scores. At each range a total of 60 per cent of the possible must be attained before advancement to the next range.

2. After eligibility to fire record practice has been determined, according to the provisions of paragraph (d) and (e), the Record Practice may be preceded by further preliminary practice, in the discretion of the State authorities.

3. Firing in Instruction Practice will be by scores of five consecutive shots. A score once begun will be completed, unless accident or conditions of range weather interfere.

(c) The following grades of classification are obtained in Instruction Practice by selective scores of five consecutive shots each:

First-Classman150—possible 225.

Second-Classman130—possible 225.

UnqualifiedBelow 130.

(d) No individual shall be advanced to Record Practice until he has attained the grade of first classman, except as provided in paragraph (e).

(e) During the target season 1913, all who fire shall follow the Instruction Practice; thereafter Instruction Practice will be optional with the State authorities for all who have qualified as marksmen or better in the season immediately preceding.

RECORD PRACTICE.

Par. 321. After completing the Instruction Practice, those who qualify as first-classmen are eligible to fire the Qualification Course, Organized Militia or the Qualification Course, Regular Army.

The choice of qualification courses shall be determined by the State authorities. Both courses may be pursued in the same State in the same season, but the course in regiments or in separate smaller tactical units shall be uniform; provided that an individual who qualifies in the Qualification Course, Organized Militia, as sharpshooter or expert rifleman, may be permitted to fire the Regular Army Qualification Course and qualify therein at the discretion of the State authorities.

Par. 322

TABLE 5.

200	1½ minutes	10	D	Kneeling from standing.
300	2 minutes	10	D	Prone from standing.

This course may be fired three times in any target season, the individual's classification being determined by the best of his three trials, but this provision shall not be construed to permit the formation of a record based on scores selected from two or more trials—the basis of classification must be the result of one complete course in each case.

(b) Coaching is prohibited in Record Practice after the individual has taken his position at the firing point.

(c) Instruction and Record Practice may be fired on the same day, but Qualification Practice once begun must be completed without further instruction firing.

Par. 323. QUALIFICATION COURSE, REGULAR ARMY.

The qualification course of the Regular Army shall be carried out by the Organized Militia with a strict adherence to all conditions and provisions required for the regular Army, except that Instruction and Record Practice may be fired on the same day, but Qualification Practice once begun must be completed without instruction firing.

Par. 324. PRACTICE FOR COAST ARTILLERY RESERVES.

Special Course "A", as described in paragraph 121, will be fired by Coast Artillery Reserves of the Organized Militia, unless other courses be prescribed by the State authorities.

Par. 325. LONG DISTANCE PRACTICE.

After the Qualification Courses have been completed, those men who have qualified as experts and sharpshooters may be given long distance practice at the discretion of the State authorities.

Practice for record may be preceded by Instruction Practice. Record Practice will consist of any selective score of 10 consecutive shots each. The practice will be conducted as set forth for slow fire, known distance.

TARGET "C."

TABLE 6.

Range.	Shots.	Position.
800	10	Prone.
1000	10	Prone.

No one will be advanced to practice at 1000 yards until he has attained a minimum total of 40 points at 800 yards in any score of 10 consecutive shots.

When an individual has attained a total of 85 points at 800 and 1000 yards, including a minimum of 40 at 800 yards, by selective scores of 10 consecutive shots, he shall be considered to be qualified in Long Distance Practice, but is not included in the table of classification, nor in the computation of the figure of merit. He may be rewarded by suitable medals or other devices at the discretion of the State authorities.

Par. 326. PRACTICE WITH TELESCOPIC SIGHTS.

Practice with telescopic sights may be held at the discretion of the State authorities, and, when held, will be conducted in accordance with paragraph 117.

Par. 327. MISCELLANEOUS.

(a) The conditions and requirements governing the conduct of target practice, except as modified in (Part V), shall be the same for the Organized Militia as for the Regular Army.

(b) DRESS AND EQUIPMENT.

The dress and equipment of officers and men participating in target practice shall be prescribed by the State authorities. The cartridge belt will be worn at all times.

(c) MARKING.

The provisions of these regulations governing marking which are impracticable for the Organized Militia may be modified by the State authorities, except for the Qualification Course, Regular Army.

(d) SCORING.

Such provisions of these regulations as are impracticable for the Organized Militia may be modified by the State authorities, except for the Qualification Course, Regular Army.

(e) ESTIMATING DISTANCE.

Estimating distance will not be required for the Organized Militia, except when firing the Regular Army course, in which case paragraph 85 will be complied with. State authorities may require commissioned officers to qualify in estimating distance in the Qualification Course, Organized Militia.

(f) PRACTICE SEASON.

The practice season will be determined by the State authorities.

(g) WHO WILL FIRE.

1. Infantry, cavalry, engineers of companies and troops.	Battalion and squadron staff officers company and troop officers, inspectors small-arms practice, all enlisted men of companies and troops, except cooks.

TABLE 7.

1. Officers and enlisted men carried on the records of organizations during the target season, but not participating in target practice will not be included in the above table of qualification.

2. In case authority is given to fire the Qualification Course, Regular Army, after a grade of qualification has been attained in the qualification course, Organized Militia, the higher qualification shall be used as the basis of record, and medals will be issued in each case.

3. If an individual fails to qualify as marksman or higher in firing the Qualification Course, Organized Militia, his grading shall be first-class. In the Regular Army Course and Special Course "A," the qualification shall be determined by the result of the firing in that course alone.

(j) HOLDOVER QUALIFICATIONS.

Holdover qualifications for the Organized Militia in the Qualification Courses (Organized Militia and Regular Army) will be limited to expert riflemen. An individual having attained this grade will retain that qualification for three consecutive target years, including the target season in which qualification was made. An individual entitled to holdover qualification as an expert rifleman may be authorized by the State authorities to fire the qualification courses, in which case he forfeits no rights to such holdover qualification. If during such subsequent firing, he again qualifies as an expert rifleman, his holdover privileges will begin from his last qualification.

General Orders:

No. 7.

I. The State of Maryland has received from E. I. du Pont de Nemours Powder Company of Wilmington, Delaware, for competition among the several units comprising the organizations in the Maryland National Guard two trophies designated one marked First Honors and the second marked Second Honors.

NATIONAL DEFENSE TROPHY

II. The method of award is as follows:

First Honors: To the company, troop or battery, or division of the Naval Brigade, qualifying the greatest number of marksmen or better during the target year or prior to 1st November annually, provided, the following conditions, imposed by the donors, are fully and in all respects complied with.

Second Honors: to the second unit.

CONDITIONS.

The competition is open to all companies, troops, batteries, signal companies or engineer companies of the National Guard or Division of the Naval Militia of the State to which the trophy is presented.

No unit can be considered as a prize winner which has not shot the minimum number of men allowed to the unit by the Division of Militia Affairs of the War Department or the Secretary of the Navy.

The unit qualifying the greatest number of marksmen or better will be awarded the trophy, with the exception that no unit can be given credit for qualifying more than 100 per cent. A report to be made on number qualified and not on figure of merit.

Units shall not be given credit for having qualified 100 per cent of strength unless all names (including those discharged or dropped) appearing on the roll at the quarterly return, September 30th, have qualified; in case no quarterly return is required by the State, all names (including those discharged or dropped) appearing on the roll September 30th.

Qualifications must be made under Special Course "C" or the course approved of by the Division of Militia Affairs.

All qualifications must be made prior to November 1st. In the majority of States the target season closes October 31st. The States that have a target season open after October 31st shall carry over qualifications made after this date and credit them on the records of the following year.

The rule in Special Course "C" which carries over qualifications shall not apply for this trophy. No credit will be given for a qualification as marksman assumed. The minimum score necessary to qualify a man as marksman at the ranges 200, 300 and 500 yards must actually have been shot in the year for which the trophy is claimed.

When two or more organizations qualify all of their men, or 100 per cent of strength, as marksmen or better, then a figure of merit based on such arbitrary valuations as shall obtain at the time shall be employed to determine the winner.

All engraving on the trophy shall be in the same style and wording as the following:

Troop B

1st Cavalry, National Guard or

1912

1st Division

1st Battalion, Naval Militia.

The unit winning the trophy shall be awarded the same before the 10th of January succeeding the winning. The trophy shall be held by it until the first of the following December, when the trophy will be returned to the Adjutant General, to be prepared for the next winner.

That the trophy may be awarded promptly at the time designated, it is necessary that the reports of the firing in each State be at hand not later than the 1st of January. Reports not in by that time will not be considered.

III. These trophies having been in possession of the State for two years without any unit of the National Guard having complied with conditions governing the award it is hoped that during the target season of 1913, and subsequent years, all units will make every endeavor to be entitled to be considered in the award of the trophy which ordinarily will be made after the close of each target season.

I. 1st Lieutenant Silas B. Smith, Battalion Adjutant, 1st Infantry, Maryland National Guard, having tendered his resignation, the same is accepted to take effect as of this date and he is hereby given a full and honorable discharge.

II. The following opinion of The Attorney General of Maryland giving the proper interpretation of Chapter 530, Acts of General Assembly of Maryland, January Session of 1906, is published for the information of the service in general:

OFFICE OF THE ATTORNEY GENERAL.

Baltimore, Maryland, March 5th, 1913.

Hon Phillips Lee Goldsborough,

Governor of Maryland,

Annapolis, Md.

My Dear Governor:

I have yours of the 24th ult. in reference to the proper interpretation of Chapter 530 of the Acts of 1906.

I think your interpretation of the Act is correct. In my opinion any officer or enlisted man of the Maryland National Guard who served in either the land or naval forces furnished by Maryland during the Spanish-American War is eligible, under the Act, to receive a medal irrespective of whether he is now a member of the Maryland National Guard unless he has been dishonorably discharged. The only troublesome question to my mind is in connection with the appropriation for payment of these medals. Chapter 530 of the Acts of 1906 provides for no such appropriation, and the language of the appropriation to the Maryland National Guard as contained in Chapters 851 and 556 of the Acts of 1912 does not seem broad enough to cover it. The language of the appropriation certainly does not justify any discrimination between the present and former members of the Maryland National Guard.

To avoid all possible difficulty, a specific appropriation for the purpose should be secured from the next Legislature.

Very truly yours,

EAP—S

(Signed)

EDGAR ALLAN POE.

In accordance with the above decision the award of medals contemplated by Chapter 530, of the Acts aforesaid, is indefinitely postponed.

Official:

The Adjutant General.

The receiving officer will attach this statement to his communication to the Acting Quartermaster General of the State and dispatch the same to the last named officer within forty-eight hours after the discrepancy has been found; failure to observe this regulation within the specified time will release the issuing officer from any responsibility in the transaction, and he may thereupon demand the receipts due.

The first Property Returns required under these regulations shall be made as of the 30th May, 1914. To accomplish this, regimental quartermasters and inspectors of small arms practice acting as ordnance officers for regimental organizations, shall, before the 1st February, 1914, execute invoices covering all property issued by them prior to the date named to the regimental adjutant and company commanders, the latter in turn to execute and deliver to the invoicing officers their receipts for the property covered by the invoices. After the foregoing transactions have been accomplished, should any deficiencies exist the officer, or officers, concerned will be promptly notified by the Acting Quartermaster General of the State and the officer, or officers involved will, within twenty days after receipt of such notice, attach thereto a full and explicit statement of all facts thereto pertaining that will enable the Acting Quartermaster General of the State to promptly and finally adjust their property accounts. Shortages in property due to alleged loss by enlisted men or from other causes, theft, etc., must be fully set forth in a Survey Report to which shall be attached the affidavits of all who have knowledge of the facts embodied in the Survey Report. These Survey Reports must be enclosed with the original papers incident to the shortage in property accounts.

The keys of storerooms, chests, or receptacles used for the storage or safety of property must not be entrusted to enlisted men or civilians without great vigilance on the part of the responsible officers, and in no event does the law admit as sufficient evidence the fact that property charged to an officer was lost, etc., by enlisted men or civilian who had access to property without the officer being present.

EXCHANGES.

3. Unserviceable or unsuitable property may be exchanged by the officer responsible for serviceable or suitable property of like kind and quantity, provided, that upon presentation of such property for exchange it is found to have been either legitimately rendered unserviceable in the public service or else unsuitable on account of size, etc. All such property will be sent to the Military Storehouse and in case the Acting Quartermaster General, or his assistant acting for the former, finds, or has reason to believe, the property so presented for exchange has not been rendered unserviceable by fair wear and tear in the service, he will immediately report the facts as known to this office for adjustment.

TRANSFERS.

4. Whenever it becomes necessary for an officer responsible for public property to make transfer of the same, either on account of promotion, resignation, or leave of absence of more than sixty days' duration, his property responsibility will be verified by a disinterested officer, and he furnished receipts, in duplicate, there and then, by the receiving officer. In order that these transfers shall be made as complete as possible, all officers responsible for public property, who are nominated for promotion, or contemplate resigning, will, at once, arrange their property responsibility for verification, and report, through military channels to the Acting Quartermaster General, the day and date upon which they will be ready to make the transfer. Upon receipt of such notification, this office will designate an officer whose duty it will be to ascertain the officer's responsibility, prepare the invoices and corresponding receipts, in duplicate, witness the transfer, and report to this office any shortage which may exist, along with the officer's written statement as to the steps he proposes taking to account and settle for the shortage, or shortages, so found.

5. In case of the death of an officer responsible for public property, the Commanding Officer of the regiment to which he belonged will immediately appoint a board of two officers, whose duty it shall be to verify his property, and report any shortage found to exist, through military channels, to this office. In case of separate organizations, a board of one officer will be appointed by the Brigade Commander, who will verify the deceased officer's accountability and report the result of his verification, through the Brigade Commander, to this office.

In the former case the board will obtain an account of the deceased officer's responsibility from the Acting Quartermaster General. In the latter, the deceased officer's responsibility will also be furnished by the Acting Quartermaster General.

6. No promotion will be confirmed, nor resignation accepted, until the conditions above set forth are fully and completely complied with.

BULLETIN.

The following extract from Bulletin of Militia Notes (16th December, 1912, and 17th February, 1913, issued by Division of Militia Affairs, War Department, are published for the information of all officers and listed men of the Maryland National Guard, and for dissemination generally to such persons as may be interested in the subject.

"In view of the wonderful results obtained from the administration of the anti-typhoid vaccination in the Army, it is believed the time has come for its recognition and general use in the Organized Militia as a prophylactic against typhoid fever. Already many organizations in the Militia have taken the anti-typhoid vaccination and others have made inquiries concerning it. Attention is invited to the following from the last report of the Surgeon General of the Army:

"Among the 57,000 troops in the United States, there have been during the past ten months but twelve cases of typhoid fever and only two deaths. Most of the cases were among recruits who had not received the treatment, and of the deaths, one was an officer and the other a recruit, neither of whom had been vaccinated against typhoid fever. Considering that some of the troops are in the field serving under conditions which would in previous years produce typhoid at the rate of 150 cases and fifteen deaths in a corresponding period, the Army surgeons feel that the enforcement of the system, which has only been since September, 1911, leaves no room for any question of the wisdom of that proceeding. The rate of typhoid per 1,000, beginning with 1906, is as follows: 1906—5.66; 1907—3.35; 1908—2.94; 1909—3.03; 1910—2.32; 1911—.80; 1912—.18. These statistics are impressive, and the remarkable reduction in typhoid is due entirely to the immunizing policy.

"The results obtained from the use of the anti-typhoid have been so flattering that the Surgeon General of the Army has recommended that whenever it may become necessary to mobilize either the militia or the volunteer troops in the field all orders pertaining to the Regular Army be made to apply to these organizations as well. It is believed by so doing it will be impossible in future for large epidemics of typhoid fever to occur in the United States Army."

BULLETIN.

The following extracts from Bulletin of Militia Notes, Division of Militia Affairs, War Department, dated 1st May, 1913, are published for the information and guidance of all concerned:

28. The War Department is in receipt of information to the effect that certain officers and enlisted men of the Organized Militia participating in camps of instruction and other joint exercises, have in the past been mustered and paid for periods during which they were actually absent from their duties on leaves of absence, on pass, by verbal permission, or for other causes. In some instances the members of the Organized Militia referred to have spent the nights in camp but they have been present during only a portion of the day, remaining absent at night and a portion of the day, and at times remained absent for periods varying from one to several days. The essential consideration in all these cases is that service was not rendered and instruction was not imparted—the cause of the absence being immaterial. The funds provided by the Government to forward the instruction of the Militia were spent to no purpose.

The Secretary of War, under date of June 25, stated: Members of the Militia are entitled to pay only while on duty, and not while on leave during the period of encampment of the Militia of which they are members."

Upon request for an opinion as to whether an officer of the Organized Militia on duty at encampments is entitled to pay while on leave under proper orders, during a portion of the period while the encampment is in progress, the Comptroller of the Treasury held that he is not entitled to pay during the time specified. (Comp. 14148-A, October 19, 1907.)

In order that this state of affairs may be corrected, the Secretary of War has directed that the practice be brought to the attention of the officers of the Army charged with the duty of mustering the Organized Militia for pay, and that they be instructed to adopt measures that will prevent any payment for services not rendered.

30. The following questions concerning an interpretation of "Trail Arms" in surprise firing have been asked:

a. "Question.—Paragraph 51, Bulletin No. 3, War Department, January 31, 1913, says in part—'Each competitor on the firing line will load with the full clip and turn his safety lock completely to the 'safe' as prescribed in paragraph 139, Infantry Drill Regulations, 1911. He will then take the position of 'trail arms', as prescribed in the second half of paragraph 91, Infantry Drill Regulations, 1911, the muzzle of rifle toward the target.'"

b. My interpretation on the second half of paragraph 91, Infantry Drill Regulations, 1911, is that a competitor in the National Matches, 1913, (in surprise firing) after the necessary commands are given by the officer in charge of the firing line, and the competitor has loaded his piece and turned safety lock completely to "safe", may, if he so chooses, hold his piece at the position of "trail arms", in his left hand, until the first upward movement of his target.

I respectfully request your advice as to my interpretation on the second half of paragraph 91, Infantry Drill Regulations.

The decisions by the Executive Officer of the National Match in regard to the foregoing are:

1. The battle sight is mandatory.
2. Position—standing—facing the target or half facing to the right or left, with rifle at trail—held horizontal, grasped at the balance in either hand; feet in position of load.

GENERAL COMMENTS.

The Coast Artillery of the Organized Militia in event of an attack from over the sea may be called on for immediate service in the sea-coast fortifications. The emergency may be such that the time for recruiting, organization, and training will be very limited. Conditions may require the assignment of militia organizations to detached or isolated batteries or even to isolated forts. The field officers may be called on to exercise the higher functions of tactical command in addition to their duties in connection with administration and supply. The enlisted specialists may be required to take full charge of power plants and may be called on to place the same in commission. Having in mind these requirements, which are the maximum that will probably be imposed on the Organized Militia, the inspector will observe the report the extent to which the organization or parts thereof may be depended on to reenforce the regular troops in the fortifications. What would be the minimum time required to recruit the organization to war strength and train the personnel so that effective service as coast artillery could be rendered?

What are the weakest features of the organization?

What are the most encouraging features?

Are the enlisted men physically qualified for the duties of coast artillerymen?
